Board Debates Referendum on Courthouse but Postpones Vote

Supervisors Vote to Defer Action Until February

$5,000 FOR PLANS

Committee Ordered to Obtain Data on Cost of Including Jail

The county board yesterday afternoon voted to defer action on construction of a new courthouse until the February meeting, the building committee in the meantime to remain intact and to obtain further data on plans and costs for a building to include a county jail.

The question of holding a referendum will be held open until the February session. Action of the board yesterday afternoon followed a morning of discussion regarding the holding of a referendum and of including a jail in the new courthouse.

Following introduction of the resolution to hold a referendum, a motion was made to amend the resolution to hold it over until the February meeting. A second amendment proposed provided that the building committee continue to act and to secure figures and preliminary plans for a building complete with a jail. The second amendment was adopted by a 32 to 21 vote, and the first by a 34 to 19 vote. The original resolution as amended then was adopted by a vote of 50 to 3.

The board adopted a resolution providing that the building committee take no steps to engage an architect to build or to award contracts. It appropriated $5,000 to the building committee for securing preliminary plans and more information for the new building.

Voting Delayed
Because of the absence of Supervisor A. H. Meyer, Kaukauna, from the afternoon meeting, voting was delayed for more than an hour until he responded to a call to attend. Supervisor Botschek, Dale, asked that Meyer be present for the voting.

The board voted down a proposal to inaugurate a coupon plan to provide meals and lodging for transients. The proposal was made by Supervisor Aaron Zerbel, Appleton, of the sheriff's committee, who said that the plan made it possible to keep a check on transients through dating the coupons and having transients call at designated restaurants within a limited time for meals. The coupons would be cleared through the Salvation Army, he said.

The proposal met with objection when it was pointed out that while the plan might be feasible in Appleton, the transient problem would not be solved elsewhere in the county.

Addition of old Highway 41 from north of Kaukauna to Appleton to the state trunk highway system will be asked of the state highway department, the board decided. The section of road recently was added to the county trunk system.

Members of the high committee were authorized to attend the winter school at Milwaukee Jan. 8-11.

Delegation to Go to Ottawa to Conclude
Waterway Agreement

Washington—(AP)—The state department announced today that a delegation headed by A. A. Berle, Jr., would leave for Ottawa Saturday to conclude a treaty for development of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway.

The treaty with Canada would provide also for hydro-electric power projects.

The delegation is composed of state John Hickerson, assistant chief of the division of European affairs of the state department, and Leland Olds, chairman of the federal power commission.

The committee will discuss unsettled points of the draft treaty submitted by the state department to Canada last year. It is expected to remain in Ottawa two or three days.

Murphy Given High Court Post; Jackson Nominated Justice Department Head

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt nominated Attorney General Frank Murphy today to be an associate justice of the supreme court and Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson to succeed him as head of the justice department.

The president also sent to the senate the nomination of Judge Francis Biddle of the Third Circuit Court of Appeals to be solicitor general.

The 46-year-old Murphy, who had said he thought others were much better qualified than he for a seat on the high court bench, has been attorney general since Jan. 2, 1939.

Formerly he was high commissioner to the Philippines and governor of Michigan for two years. Jackson has been with the justice department since 1936. He headed the anti-trust division prior to moving up to the job of solicitor general when Stanley Reed went to the supreme court.

Biddle, a Pennsylvanian, once was chairman of the national labor relations board and last year served as counsel for the congressional committee which investigated the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Succeeds Butler
The vacancy on the supreme court, which Murphy will fill if the senate confirms him, was created by the death Nov. 16 of Associate Justice Pierce Butler.

The appointment was President Roosevelt's fifth to the nine-man tribunal. Thus the chief executive has personally picked a majority of the members.

Although Murphy was named to succeed Butler, regarded by the administration as a "conservative," he turned to page 2 col. 2

Explains Ouster Of Bureau Chief

Ickes Says Director of Bureau Lacked 'Iron
In His Veins'

Washington—(AP)—Secretary Ickes, saying he discharged John F. Finch as director of the bureau of mines because Finch lacked "iron in his veins," charged today that "cliques" born of the civil service system sabotaged the work of administrative officers.

"When a man comes in as the head of a department more of the old entrenched civil service employees frequently take the attitude that they have to do it his way and wait," Ickes told his press conference.

"They adopted the attitude that they are here now, will always be here, and that the department head may last two years, four years, or at most eight years.

"With this in mind, if the man wants to sabotage he has a better opportunity if he is under the civil service system.

Ickes hastened to say that he favored more civil service (the merit system) in government, that he considered it the lesser of two evils in directing federal employees.

"But," he added, "government must be alert against the small cliques which show resistance to order from their temporary superiors."

A bureau of mines "clique," he said, was too prone to accept any plausible explanation of accidents from the mine operators.

These instances, and others, he said, convinced him that the clique and not Finch was the real boss of the bureau.

He characterized Finch as a "fine scientist, scholar and gentleman," but a man without enough "iron in his veins" to run his own bureau.

Nazi Patrols Reported Making Daylight Raids

Paris—(AP)—German patrols shifted their military strategy from night scouting to daylight raids today, French military dispatches reported, and launched intense activity extending all the way from the Moselle river to the Rhine.

The French replied to the German thrusts with their own patrol forays. One of the French units west of the Saar river, military sources said, penetrated nearly 20 miles into enemy territory and brought back much valuable information.

Another French patrol in the Vosges mountains engaged two German detachments totalling about 200 men.

Graess Is Elected Head Of State Circuit Judges

Milwaukee—(AP)—Judge Henry Graess, Green Bay, was elected unanimously today as chairman of the state board of circuit judges, succeeding Judge A. C. Hoppmann, Madison.

Judge Clayton Van Pelt, Fond du Lac, was named vice-chairman. The 28 circuit judges decided to hold their next annual meeting here Jan. 7-8, 1941.

The convention gave Judge Joseph R. McCarthy, Shawano, youngest circuit judge in Wisconsin history, a chance to meet all his colleagues.

Two Milwaukee Men Sentenced in Holdup

Janesville—(AP)—Howard A. Lucas, 25, and Lester Empey, 26, both of Milwaukee, received prison sentences today when they pleaded guilty to holding up the Luchsinger filling station here Dec. 28. Municipal Judge Ernest Agnew fixed Lucas' term at four to seven years; Empey's sentence was set at three to seven years. Police Chief William Ford said the pair obtained $74 in the holdup.

Judge Didn't Violate Law, Martin Says

Wettengel's Petition to Prosecute Is Called
"Without Merit"

PLEA IS "VAGUE"

Attorney General, Governor Both Decline to Take Action

Attorney General John E. Martin today said he was informing Fred Wettengel of Appleton that his petition for prosecution of Judge Joseph E. McCarthy is "without merit."

Declining to appoint special counsel, the attorney general said the petition did not show sufficient evidence of violation of the corrupt practices act.

A duplicate petition has been filed in county court here with Judge Fred V. Heinemann who this morning said he still has the matter under consideration. Mr. Martin also said this morning that Judge Wettengel made an informal plea for investigation of McCarthy's election he was advised to make a formal statement of his complaint and to furnish evidence. The attorney general today said that this formal complaint and the allegations it contained "were vague."

It also was reported in Madison that a similar appeal to Governor Hell to cause an investigation had been rejected.

Wettengel said in his complaint that Judge McCarthy, in his campaign advertising had misrepresented the age of his opponent, Judge Edgar V. Werner. Mr. Martin said that he referred to Martindale's legal directory, and that for a period of 20 years that volume listed Judge Werner's age as McCarthy had published it during the campaign.

Judge McCarthy won a three-cornered race last spring, defeating Judge Werner and Judge A. N. Whiting of Antigo. He became judge on Jan. 1 and will make his first appearance on the Outagamie county bench this week.

500 Escape From Burning School

Many Pupils and Teachers
In Rhode Island Forced To Use Fire Escapes

Providence, R. I.—(AP)—Five hundred and forty pupils and 20 teachers escaped today as flames enveloped the Point street grammar school.

The blaze started in the boiler room of the three-story, 50-year-old structure and quickly spread inside many of those occupying third-floor classrooms were forced to leave by fire escapes.

A fireman, Thomas Hazelhurst, was critically injured when a falling wall threw him and a ladder to the ground.

The children, unable to reach their overcoats, so rapid was the spread of the flames, were sheltered in the nearby Tyler parochial school.

Principal George Thompson, who sounded the first of three alarms, was slightly burned about the neck when he went to the third floor to make certain all his charges had reached safety.

Five young girls, in the shower room in the basement, had time only to drape a few garments about themselves before fleeing.

Two Tugs Attempting To Release Freighter

Windsor, Ontario—(Canadian Press)—Two tugs were attempting today to free the 6,300-ton freighter James Watt, caught in the Canadian channel ice two miles below Amherstburg since yesterday noon.

Without cargo and carrying a crew of 24, the Nicholson Transit company vessel encountered trouble when the ice ran into ice six inches to a foot thick. A south wind blowing up the river brought ice floes in from the lake, further blocking the freighter.

Soviet Planes Bomb Finnish Air Base; Finns Within Five Miles of Boundary in North

Helsinki—(AP)—Russian planes bombed the southwestern Finnish naval base of Hanko today, two bombers inflicting slight damage in the morning and a larger number of raiders dropping between forty and fifty incendiary bombs in the afternoon, officials here said.

No loss of life was reported and damage was comparatively small. Tonight's general staff communiqué reported that a Russian attempt to recapture a strong position northeast of Lake Ladoga yesterday was repulsed. The day was said to have passed "quietly" on the Isthmus of Karelia.

With the Finnish Forces on the Lake Kianta Front—A Finnish division on this northern front has established positions within five miles of the Russian border, while before and behind ski patrols glide along wide semi-circles to close in on the fleeing enemy.

The ski troops, which played a major role in dispersing the Russian 163rd division at Lake Kianta, killing thousands and capturing hundreds, penetrated Soviet territory at a number of points.

The Finnish patrols were said in a highly reliable quarter to have cut the Murmansk railway not once but several times.

These patrols coordinated their attacks with Finnish aerial operations further south.

Roosevelt Predicts Deficit Of $1,716,000,000; Asks 460 Million Defense Levy

Stitch Named Archbishop of Chicago Diocese

Succeeds Late Cardinal
Mundelein; Bishop Kiley
Successor in Milwaukee

Milwaukee—(AP)—The Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch, appointed by Pope Pius XII as archbishop of Chicago, regarded his elevation to the large and wealthy archdiocese today with "surprise" and a mingled "sad realization" he is leaving here for the last nine years.

Archbishop Stritch's transfer was revealed by the apostolic delegation at Washington shortly before midnight in a statement also announcing the appointment of the Most Rev. Moses K. Kiley, bishop of Trenton, N. J., as his successor here as archbishop of Milwaukee.

Informed of his appointment, the slight and silver-haired Archbishop Stritch, now 52 years old, said in part:

"The surprising news of my transfer to the archiepiscopal See of Chicago brings to me the sad realization that soon I must leave Milwaukee and Wisconsin."

Happy in Milwaukee
"Here for more than nine years I have been happy in my work, generously assisted by a most zealous clergy and an outstanding laity. I have come to love these parts and often have I said that to know Milwaukee and Wisconsin you must live here. There is something very wonderful about the people. . . I shall treasure the memories of my days here and keep strong the bonds of the friendships which I have made."

Archbishop Stritch, going to one of the Catholic church's largest and wealthiest dioceses in the world as spiritual leader of 1,000,000 persons, leaves a Wisconsin See comprising almost 10,000 square miles. The diocese, which will be headed by Archbishop Kiley, includes the counties of Milwaukee, Washington, Waukesha, Kenosha, Walworth, Sheboygan, Rock, Racine, Ozaukee, Marinette, Jefferson, Green Lake, Fond du Lac, Dodge, Dane and Columbia.

Archbishop Stritch had been spiritual leader of Catholics in the area since Aug. 26, 1930, when he came here as successor to the Most Rev. Sebastian G. Massmer, deceased. The late George Cardinal Mundelein Turn to page 2 col. 3

Hungarian Police Battle Terrorism

Six Members of Nazi Band
Accused of War on 'Unreliable Members'

Budapest—(AP)—Police said today they had broken up what they termed a terroristic Nazi band through the arrest of six members charged with plotting the "extinction of unreliable members" of the Hungarian Nazi party.

The arrests followed upon an attack on two Nazi members of parliament by armed men.

Police announced that from documents seized they learned the band planned "crimes of all varieties" with one member of the squad charged to list Nazis to be "put on the spot."

According to the police, the document said that "our leader can not occupy himself with the unpleasant task of cleaning up the party so we must do the job ourselves. We must kill out the weeds. The dead will make no counter revolution."

One document explaining a plan to cover up the deaths said, "after all, anyone may be killed by a motor car."

Firemen Extinguish Blaze in Parked Car

The city fire department extinguished a small fire in a car parked at 1012 N. Badger avenue at 12:38 yesterday afternoon. There was little damage done to the machine. Firemen reported that the car was owned by a Victor Clark, whose home is in Michigan. A short circuit in the ignition caused the blaze.

New York Congressman Succumbs in Capitol

Radio Priest's Suit Is Dismissed at Detroit

GOES TO CHICAGO

The Most Rev. Samuel A. Stritch (above) archbishop of Milwaukee, has been appointed by Pope Pius XII to succeed the late Cardinal Mundelein as archbishop of Chicago, one of the largest and wealthiest Catholic dioceses in the world. The announcement was made by the apostolic delegation today, and said the Most Rev. Moses K. Kiley, bishop of Trenton, N. J., would become archbishop of Milwaukee.

Mayor's Threat of Veto Stays Action On Old Post Office

Tells Council to Investigate Cost of Remodeling Before Buying

The city council talked seriously about buying the old post office building on Oneida street to transform it into a police station last night but deferred action when Mayor John Goodland, Jr., threatened to veto the purchase if the council bought it without more research.

It was the council's first meeting of the new year and nothing more than routine was accomplished although aldermen argued about almost every problem placed before them.

The purchase of the post office building has been before the council before and each time the idea of buying and remodeling it was rejected for one reason or another. This time, action was deferred and the public grounds and buildings committee was instructed to consult the chief of police, architects and builders to determine the approximate cost of remodeling it for a police station.

The government has offered it to the city for $9,000, about half the appraised value and some aldermen believed it too much of a bargain to pass up.

The public grounds and buildings committee started things off by recommending the purchase of the structure.

Badger Republicans Greet Message With Varied Reactions

Washington—(AP)—United States Senator Alexander Wiley, Republican from Chippewa Falls, Wis., thinks President Roosevelt's address to congress was an "excellent speech" but feels that "it was more international-minded than necessary."

"It displayed regrettable tendency to make Europe's business our business," he said last night. "It is futile to urge fearlessness and then whip up an unhealthy concern over a European war."

Representative Joshua Johns (R-Wis.) also thought "the message was good" but asserted it "was delivered six years too late."

Representative Lewis Thill, Republican of Milwaukee, stated: "Roosevelt expressed the same impractical ideology which Wilson presented 20 years ago. He will lead this country into war as Wilson did."

4 Stoughton Residents Ask Evjue to Seek Office

Madison—(AP)—Four Stoughton residents, all members of the Dane County Progressive committee, were circulating petitions in Stoughton today calling upon William T. Evjue, Madison publisher, to become a candidate for governor this year.

Peace, Economy Appeals Receive Congress Cheers

Defense Taxes and Reciprocal Trade Program Draw Criticism

Washington—(AP)—Amid general congressional applause for President Roosevelt's pleas for peace and economy, sharp disputes broke out today over his recommendations for special defense taxes and continuance of the reciprocal trade program.

Speaker Bankhead announced it was planned for the house to adjourn today until Monday when the much-debated anti-lynching bill is scheduled to come up. He expressed belief the bill would be disposed of Tuesday and Wednesday.

Party leaders scanned the chief executive's annual message for issues to be fought out in the coming presidential campaign.

Democrats were warm in their praise of the tone of the address, especially its re-declaration that the United States must stay out of war while trying to promote peace. Many Republicans joined in laudatory statements, although some termed the entire discussion of foreign and domestic policies too indefinite.

Divided Over Taxes

There was bi-partisan acclaim, too, for the promise of retrenchment, but Mr. Roosevelt smilingly retorted to the cheers at yesterday's joint session that "you can't eat your cake and have it too." In the next breath he talked of higher taxation.

Just as both parties are split over extending the reciprocal trade program beyond next June 12, so are they divided over the president's advocacy of sufficient additional taxes to pay for emergency defense spending.

Chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the house ways and means committee said a measure to extend the reciprocal trade act would be introduced in a week, with public hearings following shortly thereafter. A defense tax bill, he said, will come up after the trade measure is debated.

Expects Approval

Senator Bailey of Kentucky, the Democratic floor leader, said he thought the country would approve of the tax suggestion in lieu of increasing the deficit to pay for extra defense needs.

There are many ways of levying the tax, he said, such as lowering income tax exemptions or super-imposing a levy on the amount of taxes now paid.

The proposals for national defense included emergency funds for operations started since the European war — increased enlistments for the army, navy and coast guard, more anti-spies agents for the national bureau of investigation, greater protection of the Panama canal, and recommissioning of old navy and coast guard boats.

No Definite Tax Plan

Mr. Roosevelt did not tell congress how to raise the proposed defense taxes except that they should "follow the accepted principle of good taxation of taxing according to ability to pay and will avoid taxes which decrease consumer buying power."

These specifications appeared to rule out increased excise taxes, and suggested to some officials the possibility of higher income taxes all the way along the line.

Because Mr. Roosevelt sponsored a similar tax for New York when he was its governor, there was Turn to page 7 col. 4

Proposes Reductions In Most Major Budget Items

NO SHARP CUTS

Favors 'Tapering Off' as He Sees Increase In Revenue

Portions of the text of President Roosevelt's budget message are published on page 7 of this edition.

Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt urged congress today to slash farm, relief and public works spending in a budget message asking $460,000,000 of special defense taxes and proposing one of the smallest deficits in a decade.

If all his recommendations are followed, he forecast a net deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 of $1,716,000,000, compared with an estimated $3,933,000,000 for the current year.

Cutting nearly everything in the budget except defense funds, the president estimated expenditures for the next fiscal year at $3,424,000,000, which he said would be $675,000,000 less than this year. Net receipts from existing taxes, not counting social security levies, would increase $382,000,000 to $5,548,000,000 because of better business.

Against Added Cuts

Mr. Roosevelt bluntly told the legislators intent on making election-year records that "those who call for further cuts should have the courage and honesty to specify where they should be made."

For himself, he said, he was satisfied that no lower figures could be attained without impairing the administration of laws or working "undue hardships on individuals and economic groups."

"I refuse to accept the responsibility of adopting either alternative," he added.

The message, read to the senate and the house by clerks, said that the government was "prepared to move forward on reduced rates." It proposed "a gradual tapering off" rather than an abrupt cessation of the deficit," lest Mr. Roosevelt said, there be a "too drastic or too sudden curtailment" of support afforded the national economy by government spending."

Debt Near Maximum

The president shared things so close that, on the basis of his figures, the federal debt on June 30, 1941, would be $61,000,000,000, or $45,000,000,000 short of the $106,000,000,000 maximum authorized by law. This would permit congress to defer until next year the controversial issue of whether that maximum should be increased.

Dramatizing proposed expenditures into approximate subdivisions which he said "any layman can understand," Mr. Roosevelt gave this picture of where the treasury's money is going:

Gas Fumes Overcome Dozen After Blast In Clogged Chimney

Milwaukee—(AP)—Twelve persons, including nine firemen who were hunting the source of smoke in a basement, were overcome by gas fumes today after an explosion in a clogged chimney.

A woman clerk in a bakery on the first floor and an elderly couple living on the second floor of the building at 806-10 W. Mitchell street were the other victims.

Swift rescue work by other firemen and police prevented fatalities. Mrs. Louise Kalka, 35, the clerk, summoned aid when she detected an odor of gas and saw curls of smoke coming from the basement.

Before the firemen had determined that the smoke was due to the clogged chimney, the accumulated gas in the chimney blew out. Edward Pagels, 73, and his wife, Louise, 64, were overcome on the second floor. Firemen had to use a smoke ejector to clear the building.

Investigation Is Begun In Minneapolis Tragedy

Minneapolis—(AP)—Fire department officials began today an exhaustive inquiry into yesterday's disastrous Marlborough hotel fire that took at least 19 lives, sent 24 persons to hospitals and left three unaccounted for.

While it was believed a lighted cigarette carelessly tossed into the garbage storage chute set off an explosion to start the blaze, Arthur Spotswood, fire prevention chief, said he was unable to determine the cause definitely.

Preliminary queries established that an explosion, apparently from the garbage chute, preceded the rush of smoke and flame through the three floors of the three-story, 45-year-old building, located at 301-5 E. Fifth street.

House Group Asks For Explanation Of Navy Estimates

Major Part of Defense Program Gets Start In Congress

Washington—(P)—A major part of President Roosevelt's defense program got an early start through the congressional machinery today when a house appropriations subcommittee called Secretary Edison to explain the navy's swollen budget estimates.

Speedy action on other phases of the program also was in prospect. The house military committee decided, for instance, to question war department heads soon about the progress of army expansion and modernization.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) already has announced the house naval committee would begin hearings Monday on the administration's proposed $1,300,000,000 expansion in the size of the fleet and its auxiliaries. He introduced legislation yesterday to authorize construction of 95 warships and 3,000 more planes.

Without waiting for formal submission of President Roosevelt's budget recommendations, Chairman Scrugham (D-Nev.) convened his house naval appropriations subcommittee to start consideration behind closed doors, of the navy's proposed expenditures for the year starting July 1.

Although a substantial part of the navy's estimates deal with the ship construction program already in progress, interest focussed on the hearings because the subcommittee recently called on the navy for estimates on the cost of 65,000-ton battleships—almost twice the size of the fleet's biggest capital ships.

WOULD RECALL ENVOY
Washington—(P)—Legislation to bring about the recall of the United States Ambassador to Russia was introduced in the house yesterday by Representative Bolles (R-Wis.).

Bolles proposed in a resolution that expenditures to maintain an embassy or diplomatic corps in Moscow be prohibited.

Representative McCormack (D-Mass.) indicated he would make a similar attempt to withhold funds when the state department appropriation bill reaches the house. He has demanded that the ambassador be withdrawn as a protest against Russia's "aggression" in Finland and the "nation's effort to spread communism."

Bills designed to give financial aid to embattled Finland in its war with Russia also were introduced in the house.

Representative Hook (D-Mich.) proposed that the secretary of the treasury be authorized to negotiate an immediate loan of $60,000,000 to Finland. He also suggested that interest paid by Finland on its debt to the United States be refunded.

Representative Smith (D-Wash.) offered legislation suspending payments on Finland's war debt until congress ordered their resumption.

Moscow Charges 'Fantastic' Data On Finnish War

Embassy Warns Against 'Hasty Conclusions on Doubtful Evidence'

London—(P)—A Soviet Russian charge that "fantastic" versions of the war with Finland were originating in Scandinavian capitals as well as Helsinki provided an argumentative accompaniment today for a series of diplomatic maneuvers pivoting on Moscow.

A statement by the press bureau of Russia's London embassy cautioned against "hasty conclusions based on doubtful evidence" on the red campaign against Finland.

The statement was issued about the time the Italian ambassador, Soviet Russia left Moscow last night, a day after departure of the British ambassador, and while Hungarian Foreign Minister Count Istvan Cskay traveled to Italy with important diplomatic talks in prospect.

Consider Balkan Situation
Budapest diplomatic circles said Cskay's visit would include talks with Italian leaders on a possible Balkan move by Russia, probably centering on what would transpire if Russia marched into Rumanian Bessarabia.

Hungarians declared Italy would support a Hungarian advance into Rumanian Transylvania to secure the Carpathian mountain barrier against Russia if the reds invaded the Balkans.

Dispatches from Moscow said the departure of the Italian envoy, Augusto Rosso, apparently was ignored by Soviet officials. None appeared to bid him goodbye at the station—in contrast to the farewell for a German economic expert who left by the same train.

The Italian diplomat left almost unobtrusively as the Russian ambassador to Rome, Nicolai Goreichin, went home three weeks ago. Diplomatic quarters in Rome viewed Rosso's homecoming as a consequence of Goreichin's leave-taking.

"Leaves" Granted
In the British and Italian diplomatic moves there was no outright indication of diplomatic strain. Officially they were merely "leaves."

The departure from Moscow of the British ambassador, Sir William Seeds, 24 hours earlier was termed a "vacation" and London officials insisted it had no connection with the forthcoming publication of a white paper on last summer's fruitless talks toward a British-Finnish-Russian alliance.

At Geneva last night League of Nations officials released texts of British and French notes to the effects that the allies were giving Finland as much war aid as their own war with Germany would permit.

The notes gave no further indication of the extent of allied aid. Italian sources in Rome at the same

Eats Dynamite to Stop His Headache

Nashville, Tenn.—(P)—A grizzled 49-year-old dynamiter, denying he was drunk as charged, told Judge John L. Draper he had eaten bits of explosive to stop a headache.

"Them pills," he explained, "is the onliest thing that'll make my head stop hurtin' after a hard day of blazin'. But it makes me stagger."

The judge freed him.

change was not expected to have any material effect on the nature of the court's opinions.

In general they have been favorable to the administration since shortly before President Roosevelt submitted his court reorganization plan to congress in February, 1937.

Only one member of the court now is described by the administration as a "conservative." That is 77-year-old Justice James C. McReynolds, a Democrat who was attorney general in the Wilson cabinet.

Friends of McReynolds do not expect him to retire until after the presidential election next November or, if an anti-New Dealer is chosen, until the following January when the new president would be inaugurated. He has been the most consistent court opponent of New Deal legislation reviewed by the tribunal.

Justices previously named by Mr. Roosevelt were Senator Hugo L. Black of Alabama; Solicitor General Stanley Reed of Kentucky; Felix Frankfurter, professor at the Harvard Law School; and William O. Douglas, 40-year-old chairman of the securities commission.

They succeeded Willis Van Devanter of Wyoming, George Sutherland of Utah, Benjamin N. Cardozo of New York and Louis D. Brandeis of Massachusetts. Justice Cardozo died; the others retired.

Edison Nominated
President Roosevelt also sent to the senate today the nomination of Charles Edison, who had been given a recess appointment, to be secretary of the navy.

Edison was appointed only a few days ago after having been acting secretary for months following the death of Secretary Claude Swanson. Mr. Roosevelt sent to the senate nominations for six vacancies in the diplomatic corps and state department.

George S. Messersmith, now assistant secretary of state, was selected as ambassador to Cuba, and Breckinridge Long, one-time ambassador to Italy now on special duty in the state department, was nominated as assistant secretary of state.

John Cudahy, now minister to Eire (Ireland), was appointed ambassador to Belgium and minister to Luxembourg, in place of Joseph E. Davies, who resigned recently to take up special duties with the department here.

James H. R. Cromwell of New Jersey, economist and husband of the former Doris Duke, was nominated minister to Canada—a post which has been vacant for nearly two years with the exception of a short time when Daniel C. Roper, former commerce secretary, filled in.

Bell Gets Treasury Job
R. Henry Norweb, at present minister to the Dominican Republic, will move into the embassy in Peru and be succeeded in his present post by Robert M. Scotten, counselor of the embassy at Madrid, Spain.

The president also sent to the senate the nomination of Daniel W. Bell, a veteran in the treasury department, to be undersecretary of the treasury in place of John W. Hanes, who resigned.

To be assistant secretary of the treasury, the president nominated John L. Sullivan of Manchester, N. H.

Other recess appointments which went up to the senate today included those of Alvin J. Wirtz, Texas, as attorney, to be undersecretary of the interior, and Grover Bennett Hill, another Texan, to be assistant secretary of agriculture.

Harry Slattery of South Carolina, who resigned as undersecretary of the interior and was given a recess appointment as administrator of the rural electrification administration for a 10-year term, was formally nominated for the position.

Hegner's Contention Is Reported as Improved
The condition of Orville G. Hegner, Appleton insurance salesman, who was injured last Friday in a car crash, was described as "good" at the St. Elizabeth hospital today.

Hegner was injured when his coupe left the highway at the north village limits of Weyauwega and struck a house.

The German press was reported to have informed its public for the first time that a general conflict over Finland was possible.

PRESIDENT ASKS NATIONAL UNITY IN CONGRESS ADDRESS

From a flag-draped rostrum before a joint session of Congress, President Roosevelt made a plea for national unity in a war-torn world in his annual address at the opening of the Congressional session. The president told the legislators that "the only important increase in any part of the budget is the estimate for the national defense." Behind the President are Speaker William B. Bankhead (left) of the House and Vice President John N. Garner.

Stritch Named Archbishop of Chicago Diocese

lein, whom he is succeeding at Chicago, presided at the ceremonies enthroning him as fifth archbishop of Milwaukee.

His administration here was marked by a substantial increase in parishes; establishment of the Catholic Youth Organization; a merger of the Catholic Herald and the Catholic Citizen; and a modernized weekly newspaper known as the Catholic Herald-Citizen, and an intensification of organized charities work, an endeavor particularly dear to the archbishop.

Archbishop Stritch was born at Nashville, Tenn., on Aug. 17, 1887, the son of Garrett Stritch, a native of Ireland, and Catherine Malley Stritch, born in the United States of Irish parents. He studied at St. Gregory's college, Cincinnati, and was ordained in Rome May 21, 1910, after studying philosophy and theology at the American college there.

He was made bishop of Toledo, Ohio, on Nov. 30, 1921, becoming one of the youngest members of the Catholic church episcopacy in the United States.

After his return from Rome as a young priest he was made curate of St. Mary's church at Memphis, Tenn., and shortly thereafter became pastor. In 1916 he was appointed secretary and in 1917 chancellor of the Nashville diocese. Subsequently he was made domestic prelate with the title of Monsignor.

His major accomplishments while bishop of Toledo included construction of a $1,000,000 high school there, erection of a new cathedral, and addition of seven new parishes to the diocese.

Man Admits Selling Encumbered Property

Frank Oskey, town of Grand Chute, pleaded guilty of selling encumbered property before Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday. Sentence was deferred until tomorrow and Oskey was released on $200 bond.

Oskey admitted buying a bicycle and a car radio from an Appleton store on a conditional sales contract before fulfilling his obligations to the store.

Daughter of Former Resident Is Sought

Police Chief George T. Prim said today he had received a letter from a person at Beaver Dam seeking the whereabouts of a daughter of the late John Ferguson, former Appleton resident.

The police chief said that according to the information he had received, Ferguson once worked in a knitting mill in Appleton.

Last 2 Decembers Don't Look Like Same Months on Charts

Winter is going sissy. A comparison of weather charts for December of 1938 and 1939, prepared by the Wisconsin Michigan Power company, is convincing proof that winter, "ain't" what she used to be," either that or something got placed this year.

In the first place, last month's average temperature of 30.9 degrees was far above normal and 8.2 degrees higher than the average for December of 1938, 22.7.

But that isn't all, by any means. On the ninth day of last month, the mercury defied all December tradition and climbed to 55 degrees, the month's maximum. The peak reading in the same month of 1938 was 43.

It was the same story on the bottom end of the thermometer, the mercury being unable to settle more than one degree under the zero mark last month; that on the morning of the 30th, December's 1939 predecessor had a maximum of 15 below zero, another of nine below, and a third of eight below. Snowfall last month, as everyone knows, was laughable. The power company charts show that snow fell only two days during the month, (there were traces on three other days) totaling 1.1 inches, compared with 11.4 inches in December of the previous year. Last month's total precipitation in rain was only .57 of an inch, contrasted with 2.28 inches in 1938.

Soviet Planes Bomb Finnish Air Base; Finns Within Five Miles of Boundary in North

entered Finland under comparatively favorable conditions before heavy snows fell and Finnish officers said it would take months to replace it because of increasing hardships and the difficult terrain.

This column had tried to cut across the narrow waist of central Finland in an attempt to separate the north and south.

With the Russians apparently balked here, unable to pierce the Mannerheim line in the south and stalled on the Arctic front in the north, one Finnish officer asserted: "The war in winter is ours."

While the Finns completed the Lake Kianta victory, the high command announced a Soviet infantry attack on the Karelian isthmus had been repulsed "with heavy losses." Widespread Finnish successes on the eastern front also were reported.

Unconfirmed reports placed the Finns in the latest penetration as far as the western shores of Lake Kokki, which is about 10 miles inside Soviet territory, and said they were advancing northeast in pursuit of retreating red army forces.

Finnish Developments May Show Whether Reds, Nazis Really Have Buried Hatchet

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE
New York—(P)—Berlin's threat to intervene if France sends troops to aid the Finns against Russia emphasizes the possibility that Finland may be about to return to the position of international cockpit which "the land of a thousand lakes" occupied for five hundred years prior to the beginning of the nineteenth century.

The present position is somewhat reminiscent of the late Spanish civil war which all but produced a general European upheaval because of the intervention of great powers.

What is equally important, we are coming closer to a disclosure of the mysterious relations between Messrs Stalin and Hitler. We soon may know whether they actually have buried the hatchet for common good, or whether they are in fact still the deadly enemies we knew just prior to the German invasion of Poland.

Made Charge
It will be recalled British Foreign Minister Lord Halifax last month charged that Russia's "inexhaustible act of aggression" against Finland was the "direct consequence of German policy." He said Hitler in his agreement with the Soviet apparently bartered the liberty of the Baltic peoples in return for a free hand to attack Poland.

Those who subscribe to this view have been predicting that the newborn Russo-German friendship is eye-wash and that the two leaders will turn and rend each other in due course.

The German statement about intervention, made by an authoritative source, apparently was based on a grape-vine report that France was sending 10,000 Alpine troops to help the Finns. Previously the Nazis had said that the appearance of British troops, or munitions on a large scale, in Finland would bring German intervention. Norway and Sweden would violate their neutrality if they helped transmit aid to Finland, it was added.

"We long have maintained," said the Nazi sources, "that the allied objective is to spread the war as far as possible."

Assures Aid
As if in answer to this, French Premier Daladier announced at the same time that France was ready to cooperate with all other powers in aiding Finland, and was in fact already helping the Finns "in the

Shawano County Controversy May Reach High Court

Dispute Over Consolidation of Departments May Affect Whole State

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—That Leo Stefaniak, Shawano county pension director, may have touched off a controversy which will affect many other county governments and ultimately bring a court decision on an important point of law was the opinion of informed Capitol officials here who commented on Stefaniak's legal contest against the creation of a consolidated Shawano county welfare department.

Shawano county recently decided to combine its relief and pension departments into a single welfare department, and chose the relief director, Leo Stefaniak, for the new position of welfare director. Action of the county committee delegated by the county board to pick the new administrator left Stefaniak out of a job.

Capital lawyers pointed out that there is no clear evidence in the statutes that county boards are authorized to create welfare departments, especially since a bill proposing specifically to give them such power was killed in the last session of the legislature.

May Question Power
It was also pointed out that the delegation of the hiring power to a county committee may also be attacked, although both actions have long been followed by other county boards.

The last session of the legislature authorized counties to do some things which they had been doing for many years without express legal authority, but it was considered significant that the state senate killed twice, without a roll call vote, a bill which would have given them options to combine their relief and welfare agencies.

Informed county government sources explained that many counties have been afraid of welfare consolidation moves because it is an encouragement toward the county system of administering relief, which is bitterly opposed in many counties.

WORK ON NEW CHURCH PROGRESSES

Rough plaster work in the new St. Therese church will have been completed and ornamental plastering started by the end of this week. Crews Flooding City Ice Rinks

Skating Places Will be Available in Appleton Over Weekend

After a long wait for freezing weather, Appleton finally will have ice rinks on which to skate before the end of the week.

Gene Harris, assistant street commissioner, said today his crews are working on rinks which will be ready today or tomorrow. On the south side of the river, Newberry street and McKinley street rinks again will be available.

The Edison school rink will be ready today as will rinks on Badger avenue at Winnebago street and at Spencer field.

Harold Jerke, park superintendent, said the park crew is flooding rinks at Jones and Erb parks and a hockey rink at Jones park. The rinks will be ready for weekend skating, he said.

Suggest Welfare Advisory Body of County Chairmen

Committee Would Consult With State Board On Problems

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—The Wisconsin County Boards association disclosed today that it has proposed to the state board of public welfare the creation of an advisory committee of county board chairmen to consult with the board in the administration of the civil service requirements for county welfare personnel under new state and federal laws.

The association has suggested a 15 member advisory committee, which would meet with the state group to determine such problems as the appointing power in the county, exemptions from the civil service ordinance, salaries, classification of positions, and others.

The association also pointed out that it is probable that most counties will set up county advisory committees to administer the new civil service requirements, which would be the appointing authority under rules prescribed by the state bureau of personnel.

Suggests Alternative
In his final 1839 letter to county board chairman, Secretary A. J. Thelen of the association suggested significantly that the $5,000,000 state emergency relief appropriation, now

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

Many of those gnawing, nagging, backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging in the backaches, rheumatic pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Chief of Police Cautions Pedestrians to be Careful

Chief of Police George T. Prim today cautioned pedestrians to be especially careful during the new year as the six Appleton traffic fatalities last year were pedestrians.

The Association of Chiefs of Police has adopted a 7-point program of safety precautions to reduce fatal night accidents, Chief Prim said.

Records kept by the state motor vehicle department's safety division reveal that during 1938 in Wisconsin 61 per cent of the traffic fatalities took place after dark. Only 34 per cent of the volume of traffic moved at night, compared with 66 per cent during daylight hours.

Chief Prim said the Appleton department will make every effort to carry out the 7-point safety program.

The precautions are:
Assign as many motorized traffic officers as possible for night traffic duty.
Enforce speed laws after dark in proportion to reduced visibility.

Chief of Police Cautions Pedestrians to be Careful

Adopt scientific tests for drunkenness.
Test the drunken pedestrian, and enforce the law against him.
Emphasize enforcement of light violations.
Enforce tilting of lights when meeting oncoming cars.
Educate pedestrians and enforce good walking practices.

Training Is Needed For Good Farming, Judd Tells Club

Agricultural Instructor
Explains School Work To Rotarians

Kaukauna — The working of the high school vocational agriculture department was explained before Rotary club members yesterday noon at Hotel Kaukauna by James T. Judd, faculty instructor.

Judd described farming as now being a business which needs as much or more training as any other vocation. Courses such as the one at Kaukauna high school fill this need, with 157 Wisconsin agricultural departments averaging 35 students.

A typical course consists of class work, supervised farm practice, extra-curricular activities and farm mechanics, Judd said. All but the last are available here, and farm mechanics may be begun soon.

Steady growth
The local department has been growing steadily, with two buses now running to pick up tuition students, Judd said. Each spring a rural school day is held at the high school, where eighth grade students from this vicinity inspect the high school and are encouraged to attend.

Students take part in cattle and grain projects, and teams from the local high school have made an excellent showing in state judging contests. The Future Farmers of America, a national organization, sponsors a scholarship program, and adds to social activities of the agricultural students.

Brews, Merchants In Race for Title

First Half Cage Championship Probably Will Be Decided Sunday

Kaukauna — With two games this weekend to bring first half cage basketball league play to a close, the Mellow Brews and Merchant quints appear slated to clash Sunday for the first half title. The Brews need only a victory Saturday over the CYO team, which hasn't won a game, to match the Merchant record of four wins and no losses.

The Mellow Brew-CYO game is slated for 7 o'clock Saturday night, with Pulpmakers meeting a visiting five at 8 o'clock. Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock Gustmans clash with an outside team, with the Brews facing the Merchants at 3 o'clock.

The first ten scorers are as follows:

LAUGHTON STARS IN CLASSIC

Acclaimed as the most remarkable achievement in screen production since the advent of sound, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," starring Charles Laughton, comes to the screen as a thrill-laden spectacular film-canon of Victor Hugo's noted classic.

Taking three months to produce and employing 3,500 atmosphere players, "The Hunchback" was filmed against eye-filling reproductions of the Cathedral of Notre Dame, Palais de Justice and other representative settings of medieval Paris.

Laughton, said to give the crowning performance of his career, heads Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Thomas Mitchell, Edmund O'Brien, Maureen O'Hara, Walter Hampden and Katherine Alexander in the first smash hit of 1940. It opens a 5-day engagement at the Rio theater tomorrow.

Deanery CYO Groups Invited To Dance at Holy Cross Hall

Kaukauna — Outagamie county deanery CYO groups have been invited to a dance at Holy Cross church hall tonight, sponsored by the junior CYO of that church. The high school orchestra will play, entertainment presented and refreshments served. Miss Betty Maley is general chairman.

The annual congregational meeting of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church will be held at 1:30 Sunday afternoon in the church auditorium, according to the Rev. Paul Th. Oehlert, pastor.

Royal Arch Masons will hold an open installation service Monday evening at Masonic temple. The installation will be preceded by a 6:30 covered dish supper.

Fraternal Order of Eagles held its annual "Old Timers" meeting last night at Odd Fellows hall, with talks by R. H. McCarty, John Coppes and Louis Wolf on the program. Old-timers took over all the offices for the evening. Lunch and refreshments were served.

Strange Spirit of Uncertainty Hangs Over Events at Capital

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—This time there is something different, a sense of uncertainty, about the return of congress to Washington and the opening of the presidential year. Strange shadows flicker on the walls, and the spirit of the place seems heavy with uncertainty. The general air is one of vague anxiety.

Note the odd incident about the Jackson day dinner to be held Jan. 8. The Democrats, with the public approval of Mr. Roosevelt, invited Republican leaders to be guests of honor at this traditional Democratic party feast. That in itself was queer. But note also the peculiar reaction of the Republicans, their doubt as to whether they were being kidded or were being suddenly embraced in a large serious gesture of political unity. They didn't know how to treat the invitations, whether as a gag or as in good faith. The whole episode has a peculiar, confused, bizarre character suggesting the abnormal atmosphere of the day.

A year ago Mr. Roosevelt in his Jackson day speech invited Democratic twaddledums to join Republican twaddledums and leave the Democratic party to the liberals. That was the rough-and-tumble political language which everyone understood—the normal political atmosphere of a party rally, when you blow your own horn and give a brassy cheer to the other side. It was like T.R. fighting with the sadpateers of thirty years ago. It was like former Senator George Moses, a Republican old guard leader of 15 years ago, denouncing the "sons of the wild jackass."

Although Washington is always changing, it remains very much the same. The Democrats may be in power or the Republicans may be in, but the return of congress and the opening of the presidential year always seem as familiar as the returning robins of spring. A character in the play "First Lady" remarked that the first two administrations which she saw in Washington as a senator's wife seemed very different from each other. But, she said, after you have seen six of them, they all look alike. New people play the roles, and the unexpected is always happening. But the new actors play very much like their predecessors, and the unexpected happens in just about the way you expect it to.

Answers Will Influence
Destiny of America
This year there is more than mere uncertainty. In 1936 one knew that the Republicans would nominate somebody—either Landon, or Vandenberg, or Knox, and that Roosevelt would run and probably win. In 1932 you knew that the Democrats would nominate Roosevelt, or Garner, or somebody, and that he probably would beat Hoover. The uncertainties were comprehensible and didn't bother you very much unless you had a direct stake in one of the aspirants.

This year it is no such simple uncertainty as those of other presidential years. Questions are deep—often unasked. Will the war break loose with real hell-fury in the spring? What will it be like? Where will the Russians be by then? What will our people be thinking by then? Will the British be able to weather the feared attack in the spring? How much will we care? Can we keep cool then? We flamed in wrath at Moscow's attack in Finland; is the fever beginning to rise? What is coming out of our tense attitude toward Japan?

And what is the meaning of these polls of opinion which all report gigantic popular majorities for President Roosevelt, preferring him for a third term to most of the other candidates combined? Why do not the other candidates show some signs of life in these polls? Politicians have been trying to break through with various candidates and meet with vast indifference. What instincts are at work and where are they leading us?

It is a sense of some of these questions that hangs over Washington, questions which no one can answer. When the answers come they will influence American affairs, beyond the power of politicians or political organizations to do much one way or the other.

Postal Receipts Show Five Per Cent Boost Over Figure for 1938

Receipts at the Appleton post office during 1939 amounted to $224,322.79, a 5 per cent increase over 1938. Postmaster Stephen Balliet announced today.

THE PRESIDENT SPEAKS TO CONGRESS AND THE COUNTRY

Revealing at last a return to Washington's warning against "entangling alliances" and footing his way along solidly in respect to our attitude toward European problems Mr. Roosevelt nevertheless clutched despairingly at the genius of our inventors as the cause of the unemployment problems that persist with us in nearly as miserable shape as when he took office.

His attitude toward trade agreements and an invigoration of the army and navy are as sensible as his pointing at inventions as the imp who has destroyed our internal happiness is preposterous. Surely if any canard has been exposed and exploded, and actually turned into a boom-crang, it is that empty argument about inventions, which are basically the cause of such splendid employment as we have, being the knave who has made unemployment.

As one listened to the President demanding courage, and still more courage, to grapple with unemployment after the brain trusters with 25 billion dollars to blow in seven years have failed to make any impression, it might be considered something of a key to the solution to read in Editor & Publisher of the 51 newspapers that have curled up under the Abundant Life with their release of 10,000 well paid mechanical employees who are wondering just what invention turned them loose and how much more courage it will take to get them back to work.

Of course those who had to quit and surrender the ghost may have been a little bitter at the Abundant Life but most of them said that a continual piling up of burdens had not only wiped out their thin profits but destroyed hope as well, and this despite the fact that they were largely located in great cities where opportunity abounded whenever it was abroad in the land. It is the little fellow in business who has suffered most and turned out employees as the government took his funds. You just cannot have industry employing everyone and supporting a Praetorian army too while it withstands the constant shocks of the "Playboys' experiments."

Perhaps it is asking too much of the President to be right upon most great problems. But the country had hoped for an improvement to the condition of the sharecroppers and those other vast numbers who have lived upon the fringe of poverty, an improvement, we mean, other than shedding salty tears over them.

The answer of the New Deal after Herculean efforts and from its high bird's-eye view is "Courage!" and "That inventor is the culprit!" Let us have an act of congress, therefore, taxing inventors out of existence.

But the nation should thank Mr. Roosevelt for returning to Washington's warning. Perhaps the Gallup poll which indicated the country's opinions in no mistaken terms aided our noble President in withdrawing his unsought advice and his continual flow of threats from a European situation they had neither improved nor clarified.

NEW AMERICAN PASSPORTS

Yesterday American passports, like Roman citizenship 20 centuries ago, were unquestioned guards whether in Outer Mongolia, the Fiji Islands, or the jungles of Madagascar.

But our State Department has virtually conceded their worthlessness by recent order calling them all in with the purpose of instituting another system that at least will make their counterfeiting by the Russians more difficult.

The former passports were protected by the signature of the person covered, his photograph and the signature of the Secretary of State together with the great seal of the United States. Since the great seal was impressed partly upon the photograph and partly upon the document it seemed a bit difficult to alter by the substitution of another photograph. But the difficulty was apparently removed by the creation of another great seal.

We are now to have a double thumb printing process. There will be the usual photograph, the signature of the applicant, and in addition two thumb prints, the first by the applicant and the second by the consul abroad or the officer at home who verifies the fact that the first thumb print is actually that of the applicant.

THE NORDICS, NORMANS OR NORTHMEN

In five weeks the Finns have made a name for themselves that will live long in song and story.

And yet it is but another chapter of the imperishable record of the ages.

For the Normans, or Northmen, have been vitally sparking humanity with great achievements for many centuries.

From that part of the world known as Scandinavia fierce and fighting men moved into France a thousand years ago. They impressed the French with their vigor and their ardor in affairs of state, hence Normandy which cast such an important influence upon all subsequent French history. They also overrode England and Ireland, established governments in Iceland and Greenland and were the first white men so far as known to land on American shores.

Always they have been fighting peoples as distinguished from merely militarized tribes, the one standing for home, family, law and order as opposed to those who engage in merely destructive offensives.

Understanding the Finns' blood and their history makes their magnificent resistance to the Mongol mongrel hordes understandable.

For the Finns were subject to Russian tyranny for a hundred years which has helped make their thinking clearer and straighter concerning Russian pretenses. Their love of liberty is as fierce as their December weather is stinging. And it is noticeable that to the limit of their ability they were prepared for what happened.

When the great go of war rumbled its dull warning Helsinki did not run around in circles wondering what to do. Its battlements already had been constructed, its outposts prepared, its guns cleaned for action.

All the sermons printed in a year's time relating to the duplicity of Moscow, its worthless word and its false preachments of peace can never impress the world as vividly as the quiet action of these Finns in preparing for and expecting the worst. Sometimes it is simple for a government to delude men far off as to its purposes where it is impossible to beguile those who have listened to its bombast and observed its treachery near at hand.

Mighty men though they be, the Finns cannot live on crusts and skimmed milk nor fight a war with snowballs. They must have help, arms, supplies, armies and gold. The splendor of their courage and the brilliance of their feats are not only holding the great, stunned Beast at bay but providing the essential weeks required to rush help to them in their isolated location.

Moscow, purple with pride and power, was unaware that war is not entirely a matter of figures. Napoleon it was who coined that expression of the imponderables counting so much. Cornwallis and Burgoyne could have added their testimony.

Again may be repeated that advice: Beware peace-loving people who are ashamed of wars but can outfight that nation which prides itself on the greatest military establishment of all times.

COMING TO WISCONSIN TO SLAY

Sheboygan county, which has enjoyed an unusual record in respect to freedom from murder, faithfully followed the Wisconsin tradition when it brought to trial one Andrew Young for a holdup tavern killing in 1927 although Young had in the meantime served a ten-year term in Joliet for robbery.

The case is not only worthy of attention because of the insistence of Sheboygan that these roaming marauders who touch into Wisconsin territory shall be brought back to pay their due but in revealing also that the old family alibi which has played such a large part heretofore in bewildering jurors has returned again despite its abandonment as shoddy by most criminals.

Of course it could be said very reasonably that one of these highway lepers who seeks to support a jazz life through holdups and killings and is so sterile of intellect as to come into Wisconsin in the first place might be expected to continue exposing that sterility by pleading the old family alibi which, in days gone by, was as common as the family album resting leisurely upon the marble top of the parlor table.

Judge Detling, the circuit judge who presided at the trial, summed up the defense when he said:

"I am satisfied the defendant perjured himself and that his father, mother and brother did the same thing."

The alibi was presented to the jury although the killer was recognized by several witnesses and was found in possession of the gun whose bullet was found in the corpse. But, of course, a strange man put the gun in his pocket.

The killer, at 33 years of age, has already heard the Waupun doors bang upon him. Barring the most remote possibilities he will never have another place of residence in this life.

But it must always be remembered that Wisconsin's bitter reputation in the underworld that keeps so many criminals out can only be maintained by an unrelenting pursuit of that dull and muddy-minded class that is so witless as to lift a violent finger within the borders of the state.

DALE HARRISON'S In Old New York

New York — Mr. Baldwin Hill, who likes to go around town and study the Situation thus permitting me to remain home and read a good book, has just run up a big expense account studying taxicabs. Mr. Hill, who invariably walks when not working on an expense account, says there are many interesting things about cabbies which probably have escaped my notice because (he says) I am always so worried watching the meter jump that I pay slight attention to other matters.

From here on, it is Mr. Hill speaking:

There are about 14,000 taxis in New York (and from the size of Mr. Hill's expense account he must have ridden in all of them). There is at least one woman driver. There is a cabby who always wears a tuxedo. Another carries a rackful of pipes and a shelf of books in the front seat (and I heard he had a trailer for "Gone With the Wind"). There is one cabby who used to be a Master Mariner and was busted when his ship went on a reef; and there is another hackman who calls himself "The Taxi Philosopher" and writes long, erudite letters on current problems, always to the New York Sun.

Whenever you see a cab bowling along at high speed, you can know it is empty, because when there's someone in a cab, especially someone in a hurry, the cab never seems able to do better than 20 miles an hour, downhill.

Whenever you hear an extremely loud, raucous, nerve-shattering racket (adjectives fascinate Mr. Hill, it is 8-to-5 that two cab drivers are arguing. There is no class of citizens which loves to wrangle as do they. Nobody has ever been able to find out what they argue about. The only time they stop arguing among themselves is when one of them argues with a private chauffeur, whereupon all cabbies in the neighborhood rush fraternally to his defense. A private chauffeur has never yet won an argument with a cab driver.

It is popularly assumed that a cab driver's highest ambition is to take you out of your way and run up the fare but in years of riding in thousands of cabs, I've never seen a hackman do it.

Their chief sin is driving with the "flag-up" (that is, with the meter off) so that they get your full fare without splitting 30-70 or 40-60 with the cab company. It is the same principal as a clerk ringing up "no sale" on the cash register, and putting the money into his own jeans. When cabbies drive with the meter off, they give you the fare out of their heads. They can estimate the meter distance between any two given points with uncanny accuracy. I've seen them do it to the nickel on a trip which I knew from experience was 85 cents, which is about two miles.

Their most common vice is the way they scheme to get west of Fifth Avenue into the crowded theatre district — forbidden during the rush hours unless they are carrying passengers. Sometimes they even click the meter down, paying the 25 cents or so themselves in the hope of picking up a profitable fare from the theatres. Others will give a pedestrian a free ride, just to get past the traffic cops who otherwise would turn them back at the Avenue.

They have adventures a-plenty. I drew a driver once who told me he had picked up a fare at Grand Central who, he observed, carried a saved-off shotgun under his overcoat. There had been a lot of gunplay in Brooklyn at the time, and that was where the man wanted to go.

All the way downtown, the driver tried to figure some way to enlist the aid of a cop without getting shot. Everytime he passed a cop, he stared at him pleadingly, but the officers didn't catch on. In desperation, the cabbie drove the wrong direction on one-way streets, hoping to be hailed by a policeman for his violation, but nothing happened.

Finally he came to Greenwich Street, home grounds for hackman because they get their licenses at the police station there. So he whipped his wheel around and screeched into the police station courtyard; and before the gangster realized what was happening he was in the hands of the law.

The driver told me he got a little money out of it, because there was a reward out for the man.

That's about all Mr. Hill was able to learn concerning cab drivers.

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Jan. 2, 1930

Plans for an inside aerator for the city pumping station and filtration plan were discussed by the water commission Tuesday afternoon and it was decided to advertise for bids.

Miss Margaret Ritchie, E. College avenue, was to be hostess to the P. E. O. Sisterhood Friday afternoon at her home.

With a population of 4,700 persons and a death rate of 15 per cent, the health situation in New London was the best in the history of the city, according to the annual report of Dr. F. J. Pfeiffer, city physician.

25 YEARS AGO

Thursday, Jan. 7, 1915

Joseph Winniger of Wausau arrived in the city that afternoon for a conference with John Conway relative to leasing the Appleton theater.

Black Creek was the first to send in the state tax, N. A. Shaugh sending in his quota of $701.07 to County Treasurer George E. Johnston that day.

Italy had demanded an explanation and a prompt repatriation from Austria for the arrest of four Italians at Belgrade. A new Russian army was moving against Miawa. The Germans were heavily reinforced there. The Danish steamer Shingolf was sunk in the North sea by a mine. Seventeen were drowned.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

WE HAVE SO MUCH TO SHARE

We have so much to share—
The little things
That make the morning fair
And give thought wings,
The coming of the sun,
The cleansing wind,
Bright stars when day is done,
A road, tree-lined.

We share the commonplace,
The sorry day,
The troubles all must face,
The upward way.
In pleasures of the mind
We find accord,
And our two hearts we bind
By deed and word.

We have so much to share—
Shadow and light,
Dawn and the golden air,
The day and night,
White snow and silver rain,
The twilight blue!
I never can complain
When I have you!

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — We have it on reliable authority that the British and French will be extraordinarily pleased if we will pledge ourselves to keep German raiders out of the western Atlantic. They will be glad to spend their time keeping the rest of the Atlantic free of them.

The same authority assures us that unless we guarantee that we will keep the Germans from committing war-like acts in these waters, the British will insist on the right to do it, just as they always have in past wars with Germany.

That, in a nutshell, is the reply almost certain to be made by the British to any blanket proposal of the 21 American republics that our neutrality zone be kept free of such dramatic sea battles as the one with the Graf Spee.

Break For The British

Of course, the British would want us to broaden the definition of "war-like acts" to include more things than actual battles. We would be asked, for instance, to keep German surface or undersea raiders from molesting British or French merchant ships within the neutrality zone.

That would be a nice order. It would vastly widen the area in which British merchant ships could operate in safety before they had to begin that perilous dash through the real belligerent zones on the European side. With that kind of guarantee, there might have been no battle between the Graf Spee and the British cruisers.

Likewise, also, the British would expect us to prohibit resupplying of German ships within the neutrality zone.

With those two things assured, the British navy would have many fine ships free to patrol the rest of the Atlantic and the North Sea. Moreover, there are no grounds upon which the American nations could act to prevent British cruisers from refueling within the neutrality zone. Jamaica and several other important little spots are entitled to shelter and refuel British ships.

Some help to Germany
Germany, too, might reap some benefit from the show, although in proportion far less than British and French. There are now 50 or more German freighters stalled in American ports. They hardly dare move out of the three-mile limit because of patrolling British cruisers.

With a 300 mile zone of safe water in which to operate, they could choose their own time and place from which to start the frenzied dash to home.

German ships would be particularly discommoded by the tentative suggestion put forward that any belligerent ships which committed a war-like act in American waters would be denied use of American ports for any purpose. The fewer havens there are for German ships in America, the better the British will like it. They have painstakingly refused to set examples themselves which could later be used as precedents for German demands.

That's about all Mr. Hill was able to learn concerning cab drivers.

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Boone

Well, the president is for getting of the "scold" standard. It sure was a novelty to hear Franklin coming out on the radio for calmness, tolerance and "collaborative wisdom." And when he took a sock at stirring up class against class and group against group, you could have knocked me over with a feather.

Mr. Roosevelt was in a Christmas card mood. He was wishing everybody a happy new year and wound up by coming down the chimney with a plea for an end to bitterness and class hatred. There wasn't an old fashioned Hyde park denunciation or lambasting in the whole speech.

Republicans, successful business men and Tories rushed to their telephones after it was over to get a confirmation of what they had just heard. The president called a few names such as "ostriches," "dogs in the manner" and "warblers of easy platitude," but he was an old sofie compared to his orthodox New Deal form.

What this country needs in the present crisis is less angry argument, more calm discussion and a general getting together in a spirit of tranquility, Franklin said. Honest he did. I heard him with my own ears.

If he wasn't fooling, it's the best news America has had in years.

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WENGAARD

Madison — One of the revealing aspects of state governmental affairs today is the unconcern with which everyone in the capitol looks upon a practice which is, theoretically, at least, illegal.

Scores of capitol dispatches in the last few months have recounted the fact that a part of the Heil administration's plan for making state finances stretch to cover expenses is a diversion of highway department receipts. Everybody knows it. Everybody accepts it. Nobody seems to care, although no one argues the point that highway revenues are intended for highways.

There is a complete acknowledgment and acceptance of the idea that as yet an unknown number of millions will be taken from the highway system and poured into the general state government. It stirs not a ripple of interest. It may be concluded, perhaps, that it is the popular will.

LEGISLATURE SCARED
Yet it may be recalled that when a formal proposal for a diversion of highway money, a legalized tapping of the rich gasoline tax revenues, was introduced in the last legislature, legislators ran away from it like scared rabbits. Apparently at that time, according to the legislative barometer, diversion of motorists' highway funds, was not a popular subject.

Some observers are curious about the treatment the subject will receive in the next campaign. About the only persons whose hands are clean on the subject are the Democrats, and judging from the last few state elections, there aren't very many of them.

CUT-OVER COMMITTEE
A capitol reporter after several years becomes accustomed to covering "perennial" stories, stories which turn up again and again. One of them is the cut-over committee which was formed a year or two ago to make the northern Wisconsin counties prosperous and happy again.

The committee, composed of experts, held endless hearings, at which experts spoke. It wrote reports, rewrote reports, amended reports, revised reports, and then published reports. Then when demands for something concrete came from the legislature, it held more meetings, enlarged its membership, and started over again. Result thus far is nothing.

One reason why that committee hasn't gone far is because it has had no official or private connections with the men who run the state government. It consists of professors and state employees who are outside the administration circle, and is headed by Martin W. Torkelson, a man who is persona non grata among some influential Republicans. So popular is Torkelson among some Republican legislators that a few months ago there was a bill in the legislature to abolish the planning board from which he draws his salary.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

HIND LEGS OR ALL FOUR?

A physician skilled in ambulatory treatment (that is, treatment of patients in the office instead of requiring hospitalizing and absence from work and loss of time or pay while patient is incapacitated) describes a case of "fistula extending from a point in the posterior rectal wall between the internal and external sphincters and terminating in an opening below tip of coccyx. I had to make a long, deep incision. Patient was kept comfortable by the use of local anesthetic with prolonged action. Patient remained ambulant thruout the course of treatment, coming to the office daily, riding in automobiles, taking walks.

Patient was a husky truck driver. In this work patients always do better on their feet. Drainage is better in cases requiring it, than when they are allowed to remain in bed. This man was able to resume his heavy work at the end of a week. Incidentally he had some internal hemorrhoids which were injected and obliterated. His recovery was perfect, with an unimpaired sphincter control."

Far be it from me to raise an eyebrow at the belief expressed by the doctor, that such patients do better when they remain ambulant, on their feet, active.

But it is generally recognized that a patient with an "attack" of piles has less pain and gets over the attack more promptly if he remains in bed or at least in a horizontal position than he does if he keeps on his feet or walking about. An "attack of piles" means phlebitis, inflammation of the varicose, dilated or enlarged veins that constitute piles (hemorrhoids); except when so inflamed, piles are not painful.

The veins involved in piles (hemorrhoids) empty directly into the portal vein which conveys blood from the alimentary tract to the liver, and have no valves. Therefore when the individual is in the vertical or upright position there is a considerable weight of blood, a column ten or 12 inches high, pressing upon the inflamed area of vein in the pile. When the individual reclines the pressure of this column of blood is taken off, and there is less congestion, less pain in the inflamed area.

Far be it from me, too, to imply that man has no business walking about on his hind legs. I merely record that a person suffering an "attack" of piles finds as much, perhaps more relief from the pain by assuming the quadruped position, on all four limbs, than he does by lying in bed.

Any one seized with what purports to be severe "acute indigestion" or great distress or pain felt in the general region of the stomach, even tho it may be angina, will find the all four position comparatively comfortable.

By all fours I do not mean the monkey walk, but just standing or walking on hands and knees.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

The Coach Decides
Our son, aged 14, is just the type the high school basketball coach wants on the team. Our doctor examined the boy and found his blood pressure too high, refused to approve the slip. But the coach says that is all nonsense, and the boy feels depressed—he had been playing tag football just before the doctor examined him—would that send his blood pressure up? ... (Mrs. S.)

Answer—That coach should be kicked out of the school pronto. If you haven't confidence in your doctor, employ another, but for the boy's sake don't let the smart Aleck coach assume the doctor's role.

Why Carry A Spare?
One kidney removed for tuberculosis twenty years ago. Have enjoyed excellent health since. Recent little pains in back with some weakness, but urinalysis shows kidney normal. Notice augmenting diet with bite between meals keeps me feeling better. Does this cause too much work for the kidney? ... (R. F.)

Answer—Nature provides for all important organs so that if one is damaged or lost the remaining organ can carry on. If you do not become overweight the extra food is all right.

GOES UNDERGROUND
Houston, Tex.—(U)—Cotton growers, contractors, Department of Agriculture officials and department store officials watched with interest recently when a bituminous covering was applied to a large department store parking lot.

The covering consisted of a six-inch shell base tempered with concrete and a one and one-quarter inch bituminous asphalt surface. Between the two, a 30,000 square yard sheet of cotton fabric was spread to "bind" the top material. It is an experiment to determine if the fabric won't improve the cover and create a new use for cotton.

President Promises Smaller Deficit If Congress Follows Budget Suggestions

Washington—(AP)—Following is the text, in part, of President Roosevelt's budget message to congress.

Transmit herewith the budget of the United States government for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941. Estimated expenditures at $3,424,000,000 are down $675,000,000 from the fiscal year 1940. Estimated normal receipts at $5,548,000,000 are up $382,000,000 from the fiscal year 1940. Recovery of excess capital funds from government corporations is estimated at $700,000,000. Net deficit is estimated at $2,000,000,000 as compared with an estimated $3,933,000,000 in the fiscal year 1940. If the tax recommendations totaling $460,000,000 hereinafter are adopted, the deficit will be reduced to $1,716,000,000. Appropriations, including $1,000,000,000 for debt retirement, as distinguished from actual expenditures, are estimated at $3,101,000,000, as contrasted with $3,889,000,000 in the fiscal year 1940.

The budget of the United States government is a statement that reflects in money terms what the government does for the people and what the people contribute to the government.

In these figures over a course of years are mirrored the changing attitudes of the people toward the growing needs which they expect their government to meet. The relatively low and constant level of expenditures throughout the nineteen-twenties accurately reflected the relatively minor role played by the government in those years. The substantial increase in the past decade is a reflection of the degree to which the country, in response to changing economic and international conditions and changing attitudes, has turned to the government to meet social needs recognized by our citizenship. Nowhere are our democratic processes so faithfully depicted.

Borrowed Idle Funds

Following 1933 the fiscal policy of the government was realistically adapted to the needs of the people. All about were idle money, idle factories, and idle funds, and yet the people were in desperate need of more goods than they had the purchasing power to acquire. The government deliberately set itself to correct these conditions by borrowing idle funds to put idle men and idle factories to work.

The deliberate use of government funds and of government credit to energize private enterprise—to put purchasing power in the hands of those who urgently needed it and to create a demand for the products of factory and farm—had a profound effect both on government and private incomes.

Rapid progress was made toward a balanced budget. By the calendar year 1937 excess of government cash outgo over government cash income had dropped to 331 million dollars.

Unfortunately, just at the time when it seemed that the federal government would be able safely to balance its budget on the basis of a national income of approximately 75 billion dollars, maladjustments in the economic system began to appear and caused a recession in economic activity.

If the recession were not to feed on itself and become another depression, the buying power of the people, which constitutes the market for the products of industry and agriculture, had to be maintained. To this end, in the spring of 1938, I recommended a further use of government credit and the congress acted on my recommendation.

Rapid Recovery

The soundness of this realistic approach to a fiscal policy related to economic need was again strikingly demonstrated. In place of the 42-billion-dollar decline in national income that occurred from 1929 to 1932, the decline from 1937 to 1938 scarcely exceeded 8 billion dollars. In place of a four-year period of liquidation and deflation, productive activity turned up within nine months. By 1939, in terms of dollars, the national income closely approached, and in terms of real production and consumption, making allowance for the lower level of prices, was equal to that of 1937.

In approaching the budget for the fiscal year 1941 I have sought, as in the past, to relate fiscal policy to probable economic necessities. As the budget is being prepared we are achieving the highest levies of production and consumption in our history. The extent to which recovery has progressed, and the degree to which speculation and price increases have, on the whole, been kept in check, have made it possible for us to consider a substantial lessening of government expenditures on activities not immediately essential for national defense.

Follows Wishes

In the proposed budget I have tried to interpret the wishes of our people. They want to strengthen our national defenses and are prepared to pay additional taxes for this purpose. They wish to attain, if possible, an over-all decrease in expenditures. They would like to see a reduction in the deficit but not of a magnitude that would imperil the progress of recovery.

To translate the consideration of the budget from forensics to national needs, I submit a summary for the fiscal year 1941 of approximate expenditures required to meet these needs:

- National defense $1,800,000,000
 - Work relief programs $1,300,000,000
 - Agricultural programs $900,000,000
 - Public works and investments $1,100,000,000
 - Pensions, retirements, and assistance $1,200,000,000
 - Interest of the public debt $1,100,000,000
 - Regular operating $1,000,000,000
 - Total $8,400,000,000
- I constantly marvel at the glib generalities to the effect that if one has but the will to do so anybody can reduce government expenditures by vast sums sufficient immediately to "balance the budget." It costs nothing to make such statements and they can be decorated to fit into the applause of many audiences.
- But it is the old, old story of the man who loves to utter generalities and changes the subject abruptly when he is pinned down to hard facts.
- In these headings, for example, I do not believe that the majority of the people in this country want to reduce the budgeted estimate of $1,800,000,000 for national defense. This is an increase, of course, over the current year but it is far less than many experts on national defense think should be spent, though it is in my judgment a sufficient amount for the coming year.
- I do not believe that the majority of the people in this country want to see the work relief programs for the coming year reduced below $1,300,000,000. This sum, in itself, covering the activities of the Work Projects administration, the National Youth administration, the Civilian Conservation corps, and grants of the farm security administration represents a large—perhaps too large—reduction of current expenditures.
- I do not believe that the majority of people feel that the agricultural programs should be reduced below the figure of $900,000,000, because this figure, in itself a large reduction below the current year, will be barely sufficient to carry out soil production and surplus removal operations.
- I do not believe that the majority of people think the item for public works and investments of $1,100,000,000 can be further reduced because this amount contains practically no money for new projects in any part of the country.
- Money for Pensions
- I do not believe that the majority of people feel that the government can possibly reduce, by any substantial sum, the figure of $1,200,000,000 for pensions, retirements, and assistance of many kinds, including public-health work, aid for dependent children and the blind, and veterans' benefits.
- The item of $1,100,000,000 for interest on the public debt cannot, of course, be reduced at all and we should remember that the rate of interest paid by the government is today one-third lower than it was in 1929.
- All of these items amounted to estimated expenditures of $7,400,000,000 and there remains only one other item of $1,000,000,000—12 per cent of the total—for the operating costs of the regular departments of the government. These are down to the bedrock of the activities and functions ordered by the congress. If further savings are to be made in these operating costs, the congress will have to direct by statute the elimination of many functions. And even if they should so, the amount saved in this budget could only be a small percentage of the total.

Therefore, those who call for further cuts should have the courage and the honesty to specify where they should be made.

National defense—these estimates represent expenditures needed to develop and maintain our normal defense preparations. They also include, in view of the current world situation, the emergency expenditures required for the war and navy departments, the coast guard, department of justice, and the Panama canal.

Work-Relief Programs

Work-relief programs—For the purpose of this summary I have included the activities of the work projects administration, the National Youth administration, the Civilian Conservation corps, and the grants of the farm security administration.

In submitting estimates for these agencies I have taken into consideration the current improvement in business conditions. The first effects of increased business activity have resulted in a proportionate reduction in relief needs. This is because the increase in employment has affected principally people who have had casual or part-time work. But there is reason to hope that a continued expansion of business would diminish relief requirements substantially.

Agricultural programs—Under the broad heading of agricultural programs I have included agricultural adjustment benefits, the surplus removal program and parity payments arising from 1940 appropriations.

Despite a gratifying general increase in farm income, agriculture is still not receiving its proper share of the national income. I am, therefore, proposing to continue substantially undiminished the various agricultural programs.

Policy Not Abandoned

I have not, however, included estimates for new appropriations for parity payments in 1941. I am influenced by the hope that next year's crops can be sold by their producers for at least 75 per cent of parity. I do not suggest in any way abandonment of the policy of parity payments heretofore adopted, and future events may call for some appropriation to this end.

Public works and investments

This broad class of expenditure represents the use of federal capital for investment in useful public works, for ship construction, and for loans largely for aid to agriculture.

While the expenditures for these purposes in 1941 remain large, a substantial portion of them arises from existing appropriations or takes the form of reimbursable loans.

Pensions, retirements, and assistance—This category includes grants to the states under the social security act for old-age assistance, for maternal and child welfare, for public health work, and for aid to dependent children and the blind, as well as veterans' benefits, railroad retirement benefits, and contributions to federal employee retirement funds. It does not include insurance benefits paid out of the old-age and unemployment trust funds.

The other side of the budget: Revenue estimates—Total tax revenues are estimated at $6,151,000,000. Tax revenues, after deducting appropriations to the old-age security fund, are estimated at $5,548,000,000. Although net revenue collections for the fiscal year 1941 are estimated to exceed by $382,000,000 the estimated collections for the fiscal year 1940, the increase is not as large as some might have expected. This is owing partly to the inevitable lag of tax collections behind increasing incomes, and also partly, it is feared, to an impairment of the productivity of the tax base arising from the revisions in 1938 and 1939 of corporate and individual income and capital-gains taxes.

National defense taxes—I am convinced that specific tax legislation should be enacted to finance the emergency national defense expenditures. Although, these expenditures appear unavoidable, they will not increase the permanent wealth-producing capacity of our citizens. I believe that it is the general sense of the country that this type of emergency expenditure be met by a special tax or taxes. Moreover, this course will make for greater assurance that such expenditures will cease when the emergency has passed.

Taxing Principles

In seeking additional sources of revenue, I hope that the congress will follow the accepted principle of good taxation of taxing according to ability to pay and will avoid taxes which decrease consumer buying power.

The deficit—the deficit for the fiscal year 1941 is estimated at $2,000,000,000, as contrasted with $3,933,000,000 for the fiscal year 1940. It is expected that these deficits will be met in normal course partly by additional tax collections, partly by carrying lower balances, and partly by borrowing. If the congress adopts my recommendations with reference to taxes the deficit for 1941 will be reduced to $1,716,000,000.

Effective execution of the federal program for the fiscal year 1941 and the prospect of economies to be reflected in the estimates for future years is directly related to the quality of federal administration. The economies reflected in the 1941 estimates are the result of the cooperative effort of the entire administrative service.

Reorganization has proceeded in accordance with plans I and II. As a result, $11,000,000 of savings already have been impounded this year and deducted from the estimate base for 1941. With further readjustment in the machinery and business practices of the government, additional savings will be realized.

The Public Debt

There has been so much discussion about the public debt that I feel that some concluding observations thereon would be very appropriate at this time.

Those who state baldly that the government's debt is 42 billion dollars—and stop there—are stating a deceptive half-truth calculated to make our people apprehensive. For one thing, it would clarify the public mind if it were pointed out that of the 42-billion-dollar figure the amount incurred between June 30, 1933, and Dec. 31, 1939, is just over 19 billion dollars. For another thing, it would be more honest and more honorable for them to say that while one line in the national budget shows a national debt of 42 billion dollars, other lines indicate that the government has 7 billion dollars of cash, gold available for debt redemption, and proprietary interest in government corporations, which reduces the net debt to 35 billion dollars.

The debt accumulated since 1933 represents a far more prudent and productive use of our people's savings than much of the enormous private debts piled up in the twenties. The billions that were borrowed for speculation, for foreign loans, for second and third mortgages on overproduced commercial construction, hardly represented the fit into the applause of many audiences.

speculation that he might favor a flat tax of perhaps 5 per cent on the amount of money now paid in income taxes. For instance, if a person found his income tax to be $100 and the extra tax was 5 per cent, he would pay $105.

The new tax demand was only one of a number of challenges directed by the chief executive at congress.

Ridicules Critics

Turning on critics who have claimed methods of balancing the budget, Mr. Roosevelt jibed: "I constantly marvel at the glib generalities to the effect that if one has but the will to do so anybody can reduce government expenditures by vast sums sufficient immediately to balance the budget. It costs nothing to make such statements and they can be decorated to most prudent use of our people's savings.

In considering the growth of the federal debt, it must be borne in mind that in recent years the federal government has had to take over some of the burdens which had theretofore fallen upon our states and municipalities. By 1933 the strain of the depression upon the finances of local governments had become unbearable. From June 1929 to June 1933, states and municipalities had to increase their net debt by over 4 billion dollars and their credit in many cases had approached the breaking point. By 1933 there was an insistent demand that the national government come to the financial aid of local governments.

Debt, whether individual, corporate, or governmental, cannot be judged in a vacuum; it must be considered in light of earnings, assets, and credit standing. When the increase in the national debt is viewed against the background of what was accomplished by the growth of useful physical assets, and of effective national earning power, and by the strengthening of the nation's credit and morale, there is no economic ground for anxiety, so far as the national debt is concerned, as to the nation's future. And if our citizens understand the capacity of the nation to produce increased national income and act thereon with all possible faith and practical energy, they will be in a position to anticipate balanced budget without curtailing essential social programs.

Kimberly and Combined Locks Consider Fire Fighting Plan

Kimberly—President Lloyd Lang told members of the village board at a meeting Monday evening, that Kimberly and Combined Locks village officials, would convene soon to work out some plan whereby the fire departments of both villages would respond to fire calls in each other's territory. A number of home owners outside of the village limits, who are not paying for any fire protection, will be called to meet with the village board, in an effort to work out a plan to set a fixed cost for yearly fire protection.

Discussion centered on the Hackett home fire Sunday morning, which the local fire department fought despite the fact it was in the Combined Locks area. The Kimberly fire alarm was sounded and the fire was well underway when the department arrived. An additional delay would have resulted if another call had been put in for the Combined Locks fire department, giving the fire a greater start and endangering the home nearby. Combined Locks officials have offered to compensate the Kimberly department for expenses involved.

The clerk was authorized to purchase 10 lengths of 50-foot one and a half hose with nozzle, reducers and couplings at 46 cents per foot. It will be used to spray the ice rink.

Henry Vanden Boogaard was re-appointed secretary of the band commission for a period of three years. Joseph Kuborn and John Busch were appointed on a temporary committee for the treatment plant. Bills and claims amounting to $3,059.87 were approved by the board.

with new cold-water suds for stockings!

4 VIRTUES OF VEL NOT IN ANY SOAP:

- 1 INSTANT SUDS IN COLD WATER
- 2 NO ALKALI TO FADE COLORS
- 3 NO COTTONY AFTERLOOK FROM SOAP-SCUM
- 4 NO ACID OR ALKALI TO IRRITATE HANDS

EVERY woman knows how tough hot water and soap-scum can be on stockings, woollens, and all fine things. But here's the thrilling news! Vel, the amazing new cold-water suds perfected by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company, does away with these enemies of fine fabrics.

Vel is not a soap. It is an entirely different washing principle. Vel is one hundred times as soluble as soap in cold water. Vel contains no acid or alkali to damage and fade colors and Vel leaves no soap-scum to dull colors and make silks cottony-looking. Thus, Vel is ideal for all fine fabrics, because it dissolves instantly in cold water to make mountains of billowy, cleansing suds.

See your stockings keep their delicate sheerness and fresh color amazingly longer when done in Vel's cold suds. See woollens and underwear regain bride-like freshness.

Colored prints sing with radiant sparkle. Dishes and glassware glitter with highlights. See for yourself that Vel leaves no ring around the bowl. That shows no ruinous soap-scum can stay in dainty things to cause cottony afterlook. So, try Vel... the amazing, instant cold-water suds, today. Buy Vel today at any grocery's. Made and guaranteed by Colgate-Palmolive-Peet Company.

IN HARD-WATER TOWNS
U. S. Government Survey shows thousands of communities listed as "hard-water" towns. If your water is hard, Vel suds delight you more than ever because Vel makes hardest water act soft as rainwater.

Vel outlasts pure soap 2 to 1 in hardest water.

Vel makes as much as 5 times more suds than expensive soap. Makes in hardest water.

VEL IS A NEUTRAL HYPOALLERGENIC DETERGENT

Try VEL AND YOU'LL NEVER GO BACK TO SOAP!

Flames Level Dwelling Near Sherwood; Farmer Suffers Burns

Sherwood—The house on the Arnold Sommerhalber farm, 3 1/2 miles southwest of this village, burned to the ground yesterday morning, the fire apparently starting from an overheated stove.

Sommerhalber told members of the Sherwood volunteer fire department, called to the fire, that the house was eating breakfast about 8 o'clock in the morning when they heard a crackling in the next room. When they investigated, they found the room filled with flames.

Burned about the head and face when he attempted to save household possessions, Sommerhalber was given medical treatment. All the household goods were burned but an estimate on the loss, partially covered by insurance, was not given.

The Sherwood department was able to safeguard other buildings on the farm.

State-Wide Police Training Program Is Given Approval

Appleton Will be One of Zone Centers for Instruction

The federal bureau of investigation at Washington, D. C., announced today that Wisconsin police officials have approved plans for the first state-wide police training program in the United States, according to the Associated Press.

Police Chief George T. Prim of Appleton said this morning that the permanent training program will be held at 17 zone center where classes were held Sept. 11 to Dec. 22, one of which is Appleton. Rice Lake and Richland Center have been added to the list, making 19 in all. The new series of classes will be held Feb. 5 to June 1, with a third series to start in September.

The instruction will cover arrest technique, use of firearms, raids, road blocking, fingerprint identification, handling of crime scenes, collection and preservation of evidence, report writing and public relations. Details of the studies will not be disclosed.

The zone centers are Appleton, Eau Claire, Fond du Lac, Green Bay, Janesville, Kenosha, La Crosse, Madison, Oshkosh, Racine, Sheboygan, Stevens Point, Superior, Watertown, Wausau, West Allis, Rice Lake and Richland Center.

Fully Approved

The action followed formal approval by the official law enforcement associations of Wisconsin, which include the Wisconsin Chiefs of Police Association, the Wisconsin Sheriffs' association, and the Wisconsin Police Protective association.

It has been pointed out that although a maximum of 1,050 police officers was expected to attend the first courses, more than 1,500 enrolled. The average daily attendance was more than 1,300.

Consultant service in the preparation of the curricula for the new series of classes was given by the federal bureau of investigation. The new schools will concentrate upon a detailed study of two of the original subjects, but it has been agreed that details of the subject matter would not be made public.

Strict regulation of attendance at the schools will be required in order to protect the confidential character of law enforcement techniques.

Kiwanis Officers Address Members

Schubert, New President, Outlines Objectives For 1940

William E. Schubert, newly elected president of the Appleton Kiwanis club, Dr. David M. Gallaher, first vice president, and Charles P. Swanson, secretary, spoke at the noon meeting of the Appleton Kiwanis club yesterday in the Conway hotel.

Schubert told the Kiwanis that the Appleton club expects to be host at the annual district song fest during 1940, that the women's organization will become more active, and suggested that the club "help in the development of a new camp for girl scouts of Appleton."

The president asked his committee on agriculture to "undertake a big and important job and carry it through. Citizenship is just as important in rural districts as it is in urban. I for one know little of youth activities in the country and what opportunities for good citizenship are afforded the rural youth."

INDOORS AND OUT, SCOUTS LIKE THEIR CABIN LIFE

The camera went visiting out near Center swamp yesterday where 15 boy scouts of Troop 5, St. Therese church, are spending a few days at their cabin. The troop is one of the few in this area to have its own cabin. The group in the top picture is busy sawing wood for the cooking and heating stoves in the cabin. The boy sitting on the log, with his back to the camera, is Eugene Day. Reading to the right, the other youths are Dick Edge, Eugene Sawall, and Ronnie Eril.

Boy Scouts of Troop 5 Enjoy Gathering Wood, Eating Kraut At Their Cabin North of City

The hardwood floor is finished now and a bigger, hotter stove is in the corner to toss off enough heat so that frost can't form on the furniture during the night time. There's plenty of wood outside the door and Del Schwallier is always open to suggestions on what should be spread on the table at meal time.

Boy scouts of Troop 5, sponsored by the St. Therese church, don't worry too much about the comforts of home at their cabin on the fringe of Center swamp, just off County Trunk A about 5 miles north of Appleton. But those comforts are increasing right along, as the cabin, of which the troop is justly proud, is improved.

There are about 15 scouts camped at the cabin this week. It's just one of many outings that troop members have enjoyed during the past year at their Center swamp headquarters. There are many more to come.

Bill Springer, assistant scoutmaster, is the leader of this week's expeditionary forces, but Ivan Stone, scoutmaster, takes a run out there every now and then to help with activities, most of which are centered on this business of making the cabin a better place for the youths.

Troop 5 is one of the few in the valley that has its own cabin out in the woods. The advantages are obvious. Such a setting is ideal for the kind of recreation and fellowship that all scouting is based on. When young boys know they will have opportunities for outings in the woods with others their same age, they are eager to join and stay joined to a scout troop.

Were you to stop your car opposite the cabin on County Trunk A some afternoon when the clan is there, you would observe a typical scout scene.

A couple of the boys are busy keeping a camp fire going in the small yard that surrounds the cabin. Another group is wrestling wood. An older scout is working with hammer and nails on a small structure a few yards back of the cabin, one that is necessary because of the lack of plumbing. You can hear others shouting to each other in the thick woods west of the cabin in site. Within the building, several youths are making beds or, under Schwallier's direction, preparing the next meal, or reading magazines. There's a radio against the wall.

It was in the fall of 1938 that construction on the cabin was started. The troop had purchased five acres of land. The committee and the scouts wanted to build. They had a healthy treasury, built up by money made at card parties and by selling small, second-growth elm trees to city residents to be transplanted in yards.

The cabin is near completion now, except for siding and the kind of improvements that can be made to almost any cabin. The scouts did everything but build the framework, install the wiring, and apply the roof.

Those jobs, involving technical skill, were performed by members of the troop committee and hired workmen. A patrol from the troop this week completed the hardwood floor. As Stone, the scoutmaster says, the boys "used four times as many nails as they had to but they got it down in good shape."

The cabin is 24 by 24 feet in size. It has no partitions, but a large loft where most of the boys sleep. Ladders lead up to the loft on two sides. There is one double bunk on the first floor. There is a cooking stove and a heat stove and lots of kitchen utensils.

It gets a bit brisk in the cabin at night, a couple of the scouts confessed, but they say it doesn't bother them. Boys that age like to scoff at discomforts when they are out in the woods. They wouldn't be happy unless they could come home and tell about how cold they got one night and how the toast tasted like cinders one morning.

The menus are carefully planned and supervised by the Schwallier youth. Yesterday, for example, the whole troop knew a day in advance what was destined for the table. Chile had been the main course at noon. They were looking forward to big plates of cooked rice that evening. It was rumored that today would bring a mess of sauer kraut and spare ribs. They buy their milk from a farmer living nearby.

Troop 5 of the St. Therese church was organized in 1928. The troop has 25 members, all of whom have had something to do with the cabin. It's their pride and joy.

Committee to Contact Speakers for Meetings

Tells Council to Investigate Cost of Remodeling Before Buying

if the building would have to be used for municipal purposes forever. Alderman Knut didn't want the building "with a string attached" and maintained it would be better to pay the full price and own the building outright. He said: "If we are in dire need of a police station, why not build one from the ground up."

"I'm opposed to buying the building," Alderman Grignon said. "It's worth to us only what a police station is worth. The building might be bought by a private buyer and would be placed on the tax roll while we would spend all of $20,000 remodeling and then we wouldn't have what we wanted."

Favors Purchase

Alderman Bogan said he would "rather see the city put $20,000 in the post office building than to build a new one. It's centrally located and one of the best we could hope for."

"If we could get the building for nothing, I wouldn't have it for a police station," Alderman Weinkauf said. "There are other sites to build a police station and we'd have one 10 times better."

The chairman of the committee recommending the purchase, Alderman Thompson, asked, "What is there you have to remodel? All you have to do is take out the partitions, put in a floor and move in. I'm puzzled by the extravagant ideas of this council."

"Someone argues we shouldn't take it off the tax roll," he continued. "Then should we build our public buildings on waste land? I can't see why anyone can think it's not a good buy at $9,000; its nearness to the center of the city makes it an ideal location for a police station."

Talks For Delay

Alderman Vanderheyden talked for delay and was worried about whether the building would revert to the federal government if it was used for other than municipal purposes.

Alderman Keller said he thought the people would approve the purchase of the building but he wanted figures and facts about remodeling costs first. He favored the site, its central location and discounted the reversion clause because "if we buy it, we'll use it for municipal purposes."

"We're buying it for one-third of what the land alone is worth," he said.

"With all this talk, we still don't know what remodeling will cost," Alderman Weinkauf stated. "I think we should find out what the cost will be first."

Alderman Doerfler said he could see no reason for delay and said "we could buy that building wisely tonight."

Threatens Veto

Mayor Goodland then urged the council to find out what the strings attached is. He said: "I'd rather see the council buy it for $18,000 and own it. A police station should be on a prominent corner, it should be in the middle of a block. We can buy other property right near here for less than $10,000."

The mayor said if a private buyer purchased the land, it might eventually be worth $40,000 on the tax roll.

"If you want to just buy it, I'll veto it," the mayor told the council. "If you want to go to this right, I'm with you. Don't buy a pig in a poke."

Authorize Paving

Aldermen started the year with a determination to pave some Appleton streets during 1940 and authorized the engineer to prepare plans and specifications for pavements on five of them. The selection of streets was made by the street and bridge committee and was not questioned by the council.

Following are the streets for which plans will be prepared: Lawrence street from Appleton street to Memorial drive where it is not paved; Superior street from Lawrence street north to the alley; Mason street from College avenue to Wisconsin avenue; Atlantic street from Tonka street to Richmond street; and Winnebago street from Richmond street to Badger avenue.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for a new snow plow for the street department's 4-wheel drive truck to replace the present plow.

The council approved an order for 3,000 city maps from the Badger Printing company at $17 per thousand. The maps will be used for distribution to citizens who ask for them.

A reduction from 10 to 5 cents per running foot was made for snow removal on Clark street. A charge of 10 cents will be assessed against property owners on other streets where removal of snow is mandatory. The Clark street reduction was made because the street is narrower than others on the program.

A street committee recommendation to rebate 5 cents per foot of the cost of oiling E. John street brought a protest from Alderman Vanderheyden.

Alderman Brautigam explained the street was oiled in June but a sewer was installed on the street and now it is full of holes. "If you drove over it, you'd wonder why the people living there don't ask for damages," he said.

Reject Truck Bid

The council rejected the street committee's recommendation to buy an International truck from the Milhaupt Spring and Auto company for $1,190 by a vote of 10 to 8.

Alderman Grignon, chairman of the committee, submitted a minority report recommending the purchase of a Ford truck from the August Brandt company for $1,034 but no action was taken on his report and a truck was not purchased.

Alderman Franzke, who voted to buy the International truck, said he and two other committee members based their selection on operation costs compiled by the street department.

Defer Insurance

Alderman Vanderheyden, chairman of the insurance committee, reported on two bids for boiler insurance for city hall and recommended a bid of $82.50 from the Nolan insurance agency. The other bid, from the Conkey Insurance agency, totaled $77.

The council, however, deferred action on buying the insurance, when Reno Doerfler, a member of the insurance committee, said he had been shown the bids only a few minutes before the council meeting and maintained he was not qualified to vote on the matter.

An ordinance extending the time for the payment of half of real estate and personal property taxes to July 31 was adopted unanimously. The ordinance permits taxpayers to pay half their taxes and extend the payment of the remainder with an interest charge of a half of 1 per cent on the extended amount.

The council argued about permitting Stanley Stalld Appleton attorney, to take the city ordinance book out of city hall and then finally gave him permission. Stalld is revising and codifying the ordinances.

Appoints Committee

Mayor Goodland appointed Alderman McGowan, Feavel, Rejs, Delain, Wichmann, and Work, to the rehabilitation committee for 1940. The appointments were confirmed by the council.

Aldermen authorized the street department to place load limit signs on all streets in the city where weights of truck loads are restricted. The action was requested by the Appleton Trades and Labor council.

The following street sewers were placed on the winter's WPA program: Arnold, Alice and Union streets, the connection at Roosevelt Junior High school, Kernan avenue, Bellaire court, and Nawada street.

A carload of lumber was purchased from the Lieber Lumber company for $477.50. The lumber will be used to build a cover over one of the digestion tanks at the sewage treatment plant.

The council reduced the city treasurer's bond from $100,000 to $50,000 to reduce the cost to the city. The treasurer seldom has amounts up to $100,000 in his office except during tax collection, it was pointed out.

HADDORFF Vertichord

Everyone invites John. He's the boy who can play the piano. For today it's the youngster who can play who gets invited, and has good times. Give your child this great advantage—and yourself great pleasure—by buying a Haddorff Vertichord. This remarkable small piano actually has a larger sounding board area than a 5 ft. 6 in. grand. It has the beautiful, true tone to which you'll want your child's ear attuned. See and hear it in our showroom, and buy it on our simple budgeted payment plan.

"I was North, the declarer. East opened a small heart and I played dummy's ace, then cashed the ace of spades, discarding my losing heart. Next I led a small heart which I ruffed, then led the queen of trumps through East. West won with the king and now I had to take every trick which, at first glance, appeared a certainty. But West returned a small spade and I, not knowing the position of the ten of trumps, was in a dilemma as to whether to ruff low and risk an overruff by East, or to ruff with the jack and then depend on the ten dropping on a lead to dummy's ace. After much thought I played my jack of trumps, figuring that if East were out of spades it was quite likely he had one or both of the other trumps. Naturally, after my play I was down one. The argument is that I should have figured out why West led a small spade. The only reason I could think of was that he had no other lead, but my partner feels that he played it to try to force me up with the jack of trumps, thus automatically establishing his ten. I could have made my contract, but I still maintain that this was not the correct way to play the hand.
"Incidentally, if I had not been so greedy in trying to make every trick I could have given the opponents the king of trumps on the second lead of trumps and made a small slam without any finesse."
"R. L. T., Canada."

There somebody near stealing my thunder again! I was all set to give declarer the devil for getting himself into a jam when all he had to do was lead the ace and another diamond, disdaining the finesse. To my disgust he himself made this point clear in his last paragraph. Nevertheless, the point is so important that I am publishing the hand and shall insist on my pound of flesh. Here was a case in which an argument arose over a completely inconsequential point, a point that never should have arisen in a rubber bridge game. The declarer was playing a small slam contract which was worth 1,370 points to him. He risked these points — and lost them — because he wanted to make an extra 30 points! In other words, he laid approximately 46 to 1 that he could catch the K-10 of diamonds!
Even at duplicate bridge, in which an extra 30 points may result in a substantially better match-point score, it would be absurd to make the diamond finesse in this hand. For one thing, the chance of catching the king and ten is not very good and, for another, the risk is all out of proportion to the gain. The proper play was to win the opening heart lead in dummy, cash the trump ace (perhaps the king would drop singleton), then cash the A-K of spades, discarding a heart, and then lead a second diamond toward the closed hand. Obviously, this conservative and logical line of play would have left no defense. West could capture the second diamond with the king and, as before, return a spade, but now, with only one trump at large, and with that situated in the West hand, North would be in absolute-ly no danger.

My Neighbor Says—

When poinsettias are through blooming do not water soil until almost dry. Put the plant in the cellar for several weeks. At the end of that time cut off top of plant to about five inches above the soil. Repot plant into large pot if roots are crowded, gradually increase water supply and give more sun and more heat to promote development.

Before washing colored handkerchiefs for the first time, soak them for 10 minutes in a basin of cold water to which a tablespoon of turpentine has been added.

The cut surface of a lemon will remove marks made by matches on painted walls.

When washing or ironing, put a thick rug under your feet and you will find you do not tire so easily.

Beauty and You

By PATRICIA LINDSAY

Youthful coiffure for the girl with a square face. For gala evenings the young girl with oval face may dress her hair in this fashion.

If you are a young thing and went to one of the best hair stylists in New York City for a new cutting and setting, he would advise "simplicity." He would also advise you to have only the ends of your hair permanently curled rather than the entire length of your hair. Young hair should be permitted to have its full growth before you begin to destroy its strength through frequent permanents and many settings under hot dryers.

Mr. Georges said, "Please, Miss Lindsay, caution your young readers that correct care of their hair while they are young means lasting hair beauty. The old-fashioned advice of brushing well every day still holds good. And hair sets better if it is shampooed, dried by hand and brushed well the day before. That allows time for the natural oil to creep down the entire length of the hair and gives it a natural glossy, manageable texture."

This sensible stylist also believes in occasional oil treatments which you may give yourself at home if you cannot afford salon treatments. He understands too, how Miss Sixteen desires every once in a while to look glamorous for a gala date. Then she should put her head in the hands of an operator who understands coiffures in relation to face shapes. A hair-do which looks well with a square face is not becoming to a girl with an oval face.

Medical Care Would Change
Attitude of Ailing Woman

BY DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—Can a home remain healthy for children when the mother discovers she no longer loves her husband and longs to be relieved of her duty as a wife? We have two lovely little boys who have become my whole life, but I am afraid to face the future time when they will no longer cling to me, but go their own ways as men. I want to do what is right, yet long to have the courage to tell my true feelings to my husband. Could we be separated from each other, yet continue to live in the same house and still maintain a Christian and stable atmosphere for our youngsters to breathe? We have been married five years. I am 24. My husband is 29. I am in poor health.

Dorothy Dix

Answer:
If you can possibly manage it, leave your husband and children for a few months and go to some good hospital where you can not only be treated for what ails you, but also have a chance to let time and distance give you a clearer perspective on your domestic difficulties than you have now.

You are sick and nervous and in no condition mentally or physically, to make a decision that will affect so many lives. You have brooded over your attitude toward your husband until you have become morbid on the subject, and because you are not as thrillingly and romantically in love with him as you were when you married him, you have decided that you no longer care for him. Why, they settle down to the give and take of married life and find that they no longer have palpitations of the heart at the sound of each other's footsteps, they have a wild moment of panic in which they think they have ceased to love each other. Sometimes it makes them go off the deep end, and you are threatening to do, and go out and hunt up new affluities. But mostly they have courage enough just to hold steady and realize that they are passing through the phase of development in which the love of lovers turns into the friendship of friends, which is the best thing that any human being ever knows.

Just how morbid you have become you can judge by the fact that you are already worrying over your babies leaving you when they become men. That is at least twenty years off, so it doesn't seem worth while to borrow trouble so far in advance. Besides, when the time comes you will want them to be men and go about the business of life for themselves.

Your plan of being separated from your husband yet living in the same house and keeping up a pretense of harmony to fool the children is fantastic. It can't be done because children are so keen that they sense every shade of feeling between their parents. But one thing you can do, even if you are not romantically in love with your husband any longer. You can be a good wife and mother and make a comfortable home. You can do your duty, even if it isn't what you want.

"Guiding Rules for Becoming Coiffures" is available upon request if you write me care of this paper and enclose a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope.

But again I urge you to consult a good physician. With health will come love and cheerfulness and a profound thankfulness that you did not let a sick woman's morbid fancies wreck your whole family.

Victims of Over-Fond Mothers
Dear Dorothy Dix—I am a boy 16 years old. All my life I have been a spoiled brat. My mother separated from my father and took me with her and I have never known what it was to have a father. We have always lived with my grandmother and aunt and they pampered me and babied me until now at 16 I am fed up with it. I want to leave my family and go out in the world to make a man of myself. I will finish high school this year and I've just simply got to strike out for myself. I hate to do this because my mother and grandmother and aunt have always been so good to me, but I can't stand the "baby boy" stuff any longer. What do you think about it? ELLIS

Answer:
I don't think that any boy in the world is more to be pitied than the hapless victim of an overfond mother. And when you add a doting grandmother and aunt to this conclave of worshippers it is a marvel that any youth has enough strength and spirit to survive it.

It doesn't palliate the crime they commit against the boy that it is motivated by misguided love. The result is the same as if it were inspired by hate. They weaken him by coddling him. They cultivate selfishness in him by giving him everything he wants. They are so afraid he will get hurt they keep him tied to their apron strings and make a sissy out of him. They concoct a legend about his having a delicate chest, or being nervous to excuse his never going to work. They can't bear to be parted from him, so he is kept from all contact with the world of men and becomes an old woman himself. All of us know dozens of cases of boys who have been ruined by the women who love them. And nothing can be done about it unless the boy himself happens to have enough strength to break the chains that bind him and get away from his loving jailers.

This is what I strongly advise you to do, Ellis: Insist upon your mother sending you off to college, somewhere away from home. If she reworked, played and adventured together.

"Each cook had a chance to cook her favorite dish and serve it. I cooked spaghetti and everybody liked it except Minna. So I didn't cook it again. I did a pot roast because she liked that and everybody else, too." I learned how to help in the kitchen. I was glad to have the girls help me. So many potatoes I'd have to peel. But they all helped. Now I know how my mother feels. I give her a hand with the vegetables. These are little things, but they show values that are priceless.

Camp is a way of life especially beneficial in its effects on city children. If they can possibly get there, send them.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

CASE RECORDS OF A PSYCHOLOGIST

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

In every human brain lies the potentiality for noble, altruistic behavior or bestiality and depravity. We can become angels or devils, depending on our environmental influences. If we are educated in a manner we believe the unscientific doctrine of a superior race. Another and sounder doctrine teaches us brotherly love. But it depends on our education. Saints and devils don't suddenly sprout like mushrooms.

CASE P-146: Carolyn G., aged 23, is a capable girl who has been ill for a long time.
"I have been greatly interested in your psychology column," she told me. "While I was in the hospital, I used it as the topic of conversation with the nurses and internes, for they read it, too."
"Several months ago in Case N-120, you said something that I have remembered ever since. In the last paragraph you stated that women have five basic hungers which must be satisfied to make them completely happy.

"These, you listed as gastric, sexual, social, maternal and cultural or spiritual. The more I have analyzed my friends and acquaintances, the more I realize you are correct."
"Sometimes a woman may not be able to have children, so she tries to substitute a cat or dog, or goldfish and canaries, doesn't she?"

"Dr. Crane, I am very unhappy because I can only claim satisfaction of the first basic hunger. Owing to illness and consequent loss of my secretarial position, I have been cut of contact with social affairs and young people of my age. I have no dates and few social contacts."

Novel Hobbies
"Since I have no children on whom to lavish maternal affection, I try to develop substitute outlets in the form of hobbies. For several months past, I have been making scrapbooks for adults who are convalescing in the hospital."

"(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of the Post-Crescent, enclosing a self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover mailing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or when his psychological column is of use to you.) (Copyright, Hopkins Syndicate, Inc.)"

"The psychiatrist in charge of two large wards says he is personally delighted with them, and reads them eagerly before turning them over to his patients."

"I clip out clever cartoons, verses and pictures of interesting things, such as a skunk adopting baby kittens. Whatever may produce a smile or a new idea, I try to paste into my scrapbook."

"Dr. Crane, while many people make scrapbooks for children, I have not known of anyone doing it for adults. Since I believe my hobby serves a helpful purpose, I derive some satisfaction from doing it. We all like to feel that we have left some constructive memorial to ourselves, don't you think?"

DIAGNOSIS: Carolyn's hunger to acquit herself nobly for having lived on this earth, is a widespread human tendency, and very commendable.

Abraham Lincoln also expressed this ideal when he said he hoped to leave roses where thistles grew before.

There is a bit of potential nobility in every human being, if it can be aroused by proper stimulation and motivation.

Even children of grammar school, with a mental age of but 7 or 8 years, can be led to unselfishness and altruism, if the proper appeals are presented to them.

It behooves us to emphasize such appeals to nobility of character and generous actions, instead of submitting to subversive propaganda which generates prejudices and hatreds, wars and class strife.

The Fascist and Nazi governments begin with the early grammar school years and diligently educate their coming generations to military doctrines.

Education is the great hope of civilization. But educational agencies include our churches and schools, our newspapers and constructive radio programs. But sound moral education needs to be organized, planned and repeated from the kindergarten till the grave.

Sporadic bursts of idealism and infrequent appeals to morality or brotherly love, will not accomplish the task. Education, like advertising, must be conducted systematically and continuously in order to produce the most profitable results.

"I'll give you the rest of the dog. I've said I can't prove my case, remember, but we had to do something. We'll prove it later."

"Unbelievable!"
He sat at a big desk and propped his head on one hand.

"First," he said, "what about that letter from Chicago? We know it was a fake, in the way that was sent from here by someone, held in Chicago a few days, and then sent back. But—the expert testified that Murchison himself wrote it. Until Smith came with his frantic story a few days back, that seemed utterly impossible, although the expert doesn't make mistakes. I told myself then that the only way in which he could have made a mistake was in the case of two handwritings, belonging to two members of the same family, alike in temperament and upbringing. Therefore, I decided that it was quite possible that Duncan could have written the letter. I discovered that their handwritings were very similar by looking up lab reports at the University. No one there can tell them apart. So that point might be settled so."

His father looked at him curiously, but Michael went straight on. "Second, Duncan's story about the diamonds sounded remarkably believable. He wanted the diamonds. The very fact that his brother put pebbles where Duncan thought the diamonds were to be points to some misunderstanding. I know Duncan said it was to deceive the wife, but that needn't be true. And, if you remember the speech Duncan made to Marie on the sun porch, about not being able to stand it any longer—stand what? And the threat to kill someone—it looks as if he wanted more than the diamonds, doesn't it? It seems that they have had a quarrel later, perhaps. It may be that Duncan knows the truth about Jared Devore now. But we could interpret the situation at that time as we have interpreted it. There we have Duncan's motives. Third, he has no proven alibi for the night of the murder. He says he was at the theater, but he can't prove it. We know that Marie Murchison—or rather Mr. Deane says so—got out of a car beside the men's residence, where Duncan lives, at midnight. Had they been somewhere together in a car?"

"Fourth, what did Miss Lissey say to Duncan on that Sunday afternoon of the day she was killed? Was she threatening him with exposure? It seems strange that she should have died—and by poison—immediately afterward, particularly when you realize that Duncan, as a chemist, can buy poisons in any amounts he desires, without creating suspicion. Keeping that fact in mind, who had a better opportunity to put the poison in the meat that came here intended for us? I tell you, gentlemen, the whole business is a very carefully planned and carried out bit of villainy." He held up his hand as his father started to interrupt. "Just a minute," he said. "You are going to say that I should have traced the strange stuff that killed the dog and cat by now. I have. It is a gaseous poison, which was made by Dr. Murchison and the remainder of the supply stands at

"Yes, but raving like a lion. Crazy mad at us. Insists that he's got to be released immediately... and I don't know how to answer him." "Donovan's not back yet?" Michael queried.

"Not yet. Where is he?" "I sent him on a little errand. He'll be here any moment. He'll have the final proofs for you—and the present moment in a blue glass bottle in his own cabinet."

John Forrester broke out. "Are you trying to palm that rigmorale off on us as reasonable?" he demanded indignantly.

"Humph! You first, second and third! Your plausible 'could have' and 'might have been'—Humph!" He gestaculated angrily with the end of his pipe. "I've a few questions, my son. Maybe you'll answer them, and maybe you won't. First—where is Murchison? Second—why didn't Duncan mean he'd kill Jared Devore if he didn't stop monkeying with the woman? Any decent boy would talk like that, though he shouldn't have talked so loudly. Third—why the devil don't you find out where the woman was the night her husband was killed, instead of hinting that she might have been with Duncan? Fourth—you can't tell me the last intended to poison the girls, even if he did think you'd be better dead with his poisoned meat. Indeed! Fifth—why couldn't the Lissey woman have passed on some of her slanderous tales to Duncan the afternoon she died, and told him it was time he did something about his brother's death, for instance? Why? It's what she would have done. And sixth—my son, how did it happen that he had the poison on him to kill her with before he knew that she was going to blow up and threaten him with something? Answer me that!"

The Proof
"Dad," Michael said critically, "I can see now why you were a good defense lawyer. You are positively eloquent, man, although you do get a bit mixed. However—he paused—well, in case anybody happens to ask you'd at least have a case sufficient to issue the warrant, wouldn't you?"

"No," said John Forrester decidedly.

There was a rap at the door. Michael jumped to open it. Donovan stood on the threshold with a small package in his hand. He said nothing. Michael took the parcel.

"Here's your proof," he said. "Donovan, tell him where you found the contents of this parcel."

"In the bottom drawer of Duncan Murchison's dresser, sir."

Michael tore off the paper. He held out a bunch of keys and a small gray box. "With my compliments," he said. "Edgar Murchison's key ring, and..." he took the little gray box back, and slid it open. "Ten of the tablets of the poison that killed Miss Lissey. How about that, dad?"

Akron Goodyears Invade Oshkosh Saturday Evening

All-Stars Talking About Championship After Recent Victories

Oshkosh—Three National Basketball league victories in a row for the Oshkosh All Stars, after the local pro cage team was away to a bad start at the beginning of the season, has aroused fans of the 1940 combination as a team that can be expected to come through to the championship playoff for the third consecutive time.

And in spite of the fact that Oshkosh is still in third place in the Western division with more losses than victories in league play and a stiff schedule still staring it in the face.

On Saturday evening, Jan. 6, the Akron, O., Goodyears, present leaders in the Eastern division, will provide the opposition and they are a serious threat to stop Oshkosh's league winning streak at only three games. Twice before this season these teams have met and both times the eastern aggregation has emerged victorious.

Won On Free Throws
In both instances, however, the number of field goals was the same, the Goodyears winning on its ability to make conversions from the free throw line. In the opening game of the season played in Oshkosh back on Nov. 23, Goodyears won by 39 to 33 with 15 free throws out of 19 attempts. Each of the teams had 12 buckets in that tilt, but the All Stars were able to make only half its charity tosses. At Akron, the following week, Goodyears won by 42 to 34, again coming out ahead by way of the free throw route with the fine mark of 22 conversions in 28 attempts.

Determined to split the four games of the season by winning the next two, Oshkosh players are drilling hard this week for Saturday's encounter and the chance to gain revenge over the "Rubber City" five. Goodyears have the present league-leading scorer, in Ben Stephens, former University of Iowa captain, and with "Lefty" Edwards, Oshkosh pivot, who has been league scoring champion for two years, getting "hot" in the last three games, a duel for high honors may result. In the last three games Edwards has scored 62 points.

With the Chicago Bruins have suffered three reversals on the road, they and the Sheboygan Redskins are not completely out of reach of the Oshkosh quintet which hopes to overtake them shortly so as to assure itself of a playoff spot. A win over Goodyears, Saturday, would go a long way toward improving the Oshkosh chances.

Waupaca, Wega Battle Friday
Old Rivals Will Clash on Weyauwega's Floor; Both Undeclared

Iola—Basketball teams of the Central Wisconsin conference will resume activities this week with Waupaca and Weyauwega teams playing a postponed game at the latter city Friday evening, Jan. 5. This game brings together two undefeated teams of the Central circuit. Both have won two games and have dropped none.

Marion leads the circuit with three wins and no defeats. Iola, short the services of Taylor brothers, regular and substitute pivot men, has dropped two games and won only one game this season. The Vikings started on their comeback trail by winning from Manawa, 34 to 25, just previous to the Christmas holiday.

The standings:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Marion	3	0	1.000
Weyauwega	2	0	1.000
Waupaca	2	0	1.000
Iola	1	2	.333
Manawa	0	3	.000
Amherst	0	3	.000

Results Thursday, Dec. 21—Iola 34, Manawa 25; Marion 32, Amherst 25.

Games Jan. 12—Manawa at Amherst, Iola at Waupaca and Marion at Weyauwega.

Milwaukee—By scoring 14 points in Marquette's 49-43 overtime victory over Iowa, Forward Bob Denen, Harvard, Ill., senior, continued his brilliant pace which has found

Jack Dempsey Still Most Vivid Sports Personality

BY GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK—(AP)—The most vivid sports personality in this town still is Jack Dempsey, the tavern keeper. Though he's slowed up somewhat since a poisonous appendix knocked him to his knees last summer, the old mauler still has enough zing for four or five ordinary men.

Long as he lives, Dempsey never will quite calm down. He's as darkly nervous now as he was on the day he made wreckage of poor Jess Willard.

A little girl, about four and pretty, came timidly across the nearly de-

Report Anderson Will Coach Lions

But Hunk Denies It and Elmer Henderson Hasn't Heard Anything

Detroit—(AP)—A trans-continental argument whether Heartley (Hunk) Anderson would coach the Detroit Lions as top man next year has bubbled up again.

Published reports here said that Anderson, former Notre Dame coach and line tutor last season for the Lions, has been signed to replace Elmer (Gus) Henderson as Lion head coach for 1940. But on the coast both men said no change had been made.

Last week owner George A. Richards of the National Professional Football league club denied reports that such a change was contemplated.

Embarrassing yesterday's story was a report that Richards and Anderson had signed four members of Southern California's Rose Bowl champions—quarterback Doyle Nave, guard Harry Smith, and ends Bill Fisk and Bob Winslow. But this also was denied.

It was said that Henderson, who has two years to go on his contract with the Lions, was planning court action to collect the two years' salary unless a private settlement could be reached.

Both Henderson and Anderson are at Los Angeles. Owner Richards is at his Palm Springs, Calif., home.

Los Angeles—(AP)—George A. Richards could not be reached last night to say whether he had fired Elmer Henderson and hired Heartley (Hunk) Anderson to coach the Detroit Lions.

Business associates said Richards had refused to discuss the matter. He is at his Beverly Hills home.

Henderson and Anderson met face to face yesterday and the question was asked if one had been dismissed and the other engaged.

"As far as I know, I'm still the coach," Henderson said. "What do you know about it, Hunk?"

"It's news to me. I talked with Mr. Richards last night and all he told me was that he wanted to sell the club. He said his physicians had ordered him to dispose of it."

"I hear a syndicate around Detroit is thinking about buying it, but I don't know. I don't even know if I have a contract at all."

Anderson added he knew nothing of the purported signing of four University of Southern California players, who are through with college football.

Bradley Brothers to Ride at Oconomowoc
Milwaukee—(AP)—Steve and David Bradley, who have gained international fame in ski tournaments, have filed entries for the annual Milwaukee-Oconomowoc ski club tournament at the Devil's Hollow slide at Oconomowoc next Sunday.

Both are members of the Dartmouth ski team of Hanover, N. H. Steve will compete in Class A and David in Class B. David won the four-events title for universities in Switzerland last year and Steve won top honors in many events as captain of the Dartmouth college ski team last year.

The Norge Ski club of Chicago was the ninth team to enter the meet. The club will send nine men. A surprise entry was filed yesterday by Lemoine Batson of Berwyn, Ill., twice a United States Olympic team member. Batson, now president of the Central U. S. Ski association, had announced his retirement from active competition.

him averaging 12 points a game. Denen, who also led Marquette scorers last season, has thus far rung up 61 points in five varsity battles.

College Athletics Showed Steady Growth Last Year

BY JOHN L. GRIFFITH
Commissioner of Athletics for the Western Conference

CHICAGO—(AP)—College athletics in 1939 showed steady improvement over the preceding year in interest both from the standpoint of the participants and the general public.

National college championships sponsored by the N. S. A. A. in track and field, cross country, swimming, wrestling, gymnastics, boxing and basketball were highly successful, as were the national tennis tournament conducted by the U. S. L. T. A. and N. C. A. A. and the national golf tournament under the management of the N. C. A. A. and the U. S. G. A.

College football remained the popular sport in the estimation of the public as was shown by the scores of crowds ranging from 40,000 to 106,000. In fact, although 1938 was a better year than 1937 from the standpoint of attendance at the games, the attendance figures of 1939 exceeded those of 1938.

The colleges and universities in 1939 showed a tendency to divide into two groups, the first group composed of institutions that provide athletic scholarships for their football players. In some of these institutions, the athletic scholarships are paid for out of university funds and others by alumni or other friends of the institutions. The second group is composed of institutions that are attempting to operate their athletics on a non-paid-player basis. The members of these two groups in 1939 showed a tendency more and more to schedule games with members of the same group.

Basketball showed greater growth as judged from the standpoint of spectator interest than any other sport except the winter sports during the year Dr. Naismith, the founder of basketball, died.

As of 1940, all indications point toward a good year in practically all of the 14 sports that are generally listed as college games.

Baseball, which is primarily a professional game, showed some increase in the colleges in 1939 and with the impetus gained, should carry over into 1940.

serted dining room, sent by her expectant parents to say hello to Dempsey. She said she was from Kansas, and in another wink she was standing up in Dempsey's lap, tracking dust on an expensive blue suit.

As he jounced her around before depositing her gently back on the floor, Jack already was whipping words at Jimmy Johnston, the old boy bandit, who was making some disparaging remarks from an adjoining chair.

"What do you mean?" he challenged. "I wanted to fight Harry Willis. Jack Kearns wouldn't let me."

"Just the same," Johnston insisted, "you would have fought Willis like I wanted you to. You would have chased him right out of the ring."

Johnston and Dempsey have decided to co-promote a scrap between Bob Pastor and Red Burman at Miami in late February. They haven't a great deal to lose for Johnston controls Pastor and Dempsey is partner (with Max Waxman) of Burman. Maxman motioned us aside to whisper:

"You know, Jack is a funny guy. He still asks me sometimes if I really think he was a good fighter. Imagine that."

Jack still puts on the gloves now and then with some of the hired help around his place. He has installed a regulation ring on the roof for that purpose.

"Better keep yourself in shape," Johnston advised. "I'm going to bring Jack Sharkey in to see you one of these days. That guy still wants to lick you, Jack."

Prep Grid Rules May be Changed

Six Proposals Will Come Before National Committee Friday

Chicago—(AP)—Six proposed changes in prep grid rules for 1940 are expected to monopolize attention of representatives from 26 states tomorrow when the National Interscholastic Football committee opens its annual meeting.

Henry V. Porter, committee secretary and assistant manager of the Illinois High School Athletic association, said a questionnaire directed to high school football leaders in the 26 member states disclosed "a great deal of sentiment in favor of" the following proposed changes:

1—A second forward pass during a down, provided it also starts behind the line of scrimmage.

2—Permit any eligible receiver to complete a pass even though the pass previously had been touched by an eligible teammate.

3—Encourage return of punts by depriving kicking team of right to recover kick after a receiver has touched the ball in making a bona fide attempt to catch or recover it.

4—A flat rule that a player can not touch a loose ball after having been out of bounds on the same play.

5—A fourth down pass incomplete in the end zone becomes a touchback only if the ball was put in play at a point inside the 20-yard line.

6—Apply the same penalties to pass interference and to ineligible receivers in the end zone. Present rules provide for a touchback on any down for pass interference in the end zone. Only on fourth down does it become a touchback under the ineligible receiver's heading, the penalty for such violation on the first three downs being 15 yards and loss of down.

Shawano Girls for Friday's Contest

Rockets Appreciate They'll Have to Win to Remain in NEW Race

Shawano—With a lot of chips resting on the outcome, the Shawano Indians will travel to Neenah Friday night for the first meeting of the two game teams in the current Western division, N. E. W. conference season.

Neenah's Rockets are undefeated and a win against Shawano will send their stock soaring, as favorites to retain the conference title that the two teams now hold jointly. A defeat for the Rockets will throw the conference race wide open.

Particularly for Coach Cliff Dills' maroon and black warriors, the game is a crucial one. Already set back by Menasha, the Indians need a win to stay in the top rank of the conference race, since Menasha, Kaukauna and New London all have displayed power this year. Neenah has shown a lot of class this year in winning from Kaukauna and Menasha, among others, with only two lettermen on the squad—but two good ones.

The Indian impresario sent his squad through a series of morning scrimmage sessions this week to sharpen them for the all-important Friday night game. Billy Reed, current scoring leader in the conference, and the veteran Vern Rosenow will start at the guard positions, it is expected, with Jack Anderson, the third letterman, at either forward or center.

With Anderson at center a pair of sophomores, Jim Anderson and Bill Dicke, will probably get the starting call as forwards. If Jack Anderson moves to forward, however, another sophomore, Bob Schweers, is the probable center with Jim Anderson at the other forward. Both combinations have seen a lot of service in drill sessions, and the southpaw Jack Anderson has improved mightily in recent games.

Clintonville Five At Waupaca Tonight

Clintonville—The Clintonville Auctioneers travel to Waupaca Thursday evening for their next Central Wisconsin league basketball game. The game is to be played at the Waupaca High school with the tipoff scheduled for 8 p. m. The Auctioneers still are in second place behind Marion with four victories in six encounters. Clintonville's losses have been to Manawa and the league leaders, Marion, while victories have been posted over Scandinavia, Iola, Amherst and Bear Creek.

The lanky Auctioneers will start the same combination which has brought them much success so far this season with Sid Fells at center, Rollie Kersten and "Machine Gun Hank" Monty at forward, and Ray Hansen and George Gretzinger at guards. Others who undoubtedly will see action include Bill Melzer who has been on the sick list, Earl Paape who has returned to the squad after spending the holidays at his home at Eau Claire, Bill Hurley, Elmo Halla and Wallie Fischer.

Barlow's Strikers won their ninth straight game as they swept their series with Zickler Shoes in recent High School league matches at Arcade alleys. B. Meyer led the way with a 399 series and 144 game. High for the losers was B. Bayer with a 458 triple and 173 game.

Emrich Grocers made it six in a row when they grand slammed Utchig Dairy. J. Koss was high for the winners with a 184 game and 510 series while B. Hoh showed 162 and 395 for the losers.

Unmuth Drugs downed Gold Bond Roofers in three games as Powers totaled 503 and Bergner whipped 209. Tops for the losers was R. Treiber with a 398 series and 162 game.

Valley Sports won the odd game from Rudolph's as Koehnke grooved 449 and Dohr counted 157. Griesbach was high for the losers with a 450 series and 152 game.

FRIDAY'S GAME Eastern Division

Kimberly at Brillion.
Seymour at Denmark.
Hilbert at Reedsville.

Western Division
Freedom at Bear Creek.
Shiocton at Hortonville.
Winneconne at Wrightstown.

KIMBERLY—Coach Ray Hamann, having returned from his vacation, put his high school cagers through a practice Tuesday afternoon preparatory to journeying to Brillion Friday night to tangle with their old rivals. Kimberly will be lucky to take the purple this year because Brillion is in the thick of the pennant scramble.

The Kimberly squad pulled a surprise victory over West Allis last week by playing its best ball of the season. However, the squad may not find itself in the drivers' seat in the Brillion game if it doesn't show the effort that characterized play last week.

The Papermaker B squad will lock horns with the enemy reserves in the preliminary. The Papermaker reserves have not lost a game in two seasons.

Seymour journeys to Denmark and on paper the Indians seem to be impressive. Hilbert tries to Reedsville and may pull the surprise of the conference by taking a win.

Coach Schroeder has his cagers clicking now and they will be tough.

In the Western division, Winneconne should take Wrightstown handily and Shiocton may have the better of the argument at Hortonville. The Irish of Freedom travel to Bear Creek and are doped to win.

PEARSON UNDER KNIFE
Fresno, Calif.—(AP)—Monte Pearson, New York Yankee pitcher, undergoes a minor operation today in St. Agnes hospital. Dr. Philip Ching says Pearson wanted to be "in shape for the coming baseball season."

Clem Bohr has scheduled a game with the Hilbert cagers. Included on the visiting squad's roster is Leo Fox, who was a member of the Clintonville Trucker baseball team last year.

GOLDEN CROWN
Eight hundred! If you remember that number, you will have the year in which Charlemagne came to his highest honor. It is an important date in history. When he was 58 years old, the great ruler had another call for help from Rome. This call came from Pope Leo III. Once more he marched into Italy with an army, and once more he saved the pope's lands.

Charlemagne wearing the crown of emperor.

After the victory, he went-- on Christmas Day -- to attend a service in St. Peter's church. Seated on the papal throne was the pope, and in the church were scores of priests and hundreds of other persons. Charlemagne went to the rail of a high altar, and while he was there Pope Leo placed a golden crown on his head.

The crown was meant as a sign that Charlemagne was to be "emperor of the Romans." Against the general rule of silence in church, there arose a cheer that day.

The crowning of Charlemagne did not give him any new lands, but it added a title. From that time onward, he was known as an emperor, rather than as a king.

The empire contained more than half a million square miles. Besides France, Germany and most of Italy, it included the countries now known as Belgium, Holland, Switzerland and Hungary, also a bit of Spain.

Charlemagne lived for 14 years after he was crowned emperor. At his death, he passed his power to Louis, the only one of his three sons then living.

Charlemagne's son was the first of a large number of kings of France who had the name of Louis. They are known in history as Louis I, Louis II, and so on. Louis XVI was put to death in the French Revolution. A later Louis never held real power but was called Louis XVII. His son actually ruled for 10 years, as Louis XVIII. Several kings with the name had odd nicknames. One was called "Louis the Fat," another "Louis the Quaker." Still another was called "Louis the Child," and with good reason-- he was crowned at the age of seven and died when he was 18.

The first Louis had two sons and a stepson. They divided the empire between them. Roughly speaking, one took France, another Germany. The third, Lothair, ruled two-thirds of Italy and a long, narrow stretch of land reaching from Switzerland to the North Sea.

Since that day, the part of Lothair's land between France and Germany has led to quarrels. Today a part of it is in Germany, a greater part in France, and a part makes up Holland and Belgium.

Shamrocks Defeat Menasha St. John In Catholic Loop

St. Mary Squad Also Wins To Tie for Second Place

Menasha — St. Patrick's Shamrocks, co-champions of the Catholic Boy conference, defeated St. John's of Menasha, 18 to 13, Wednesday night at St. Mary's gymnasium to hold a tie for second place in the league standings.

In the first game Wednesday night St. Mary grade school team scored an easy 23 to 14 victory over Sacred Heart of Appleton. The victory maintained a tie for second place in the league standings for the Zephyrs and shoved Sacred Heart deeper into the cellar position with five straight defeats. The St. John's team of Menasha was ousted from a share of second place by its defeat.

Shamrocks Hard Pressed
The Shamrocks built up a 12 to 1 lead in the first half against the St. John's team but were hard-pressed to score a 16 to 13 victory. The St. Patrick's team escaped defeat only because the St. John team was inaccurate from the free throw line and made five shots while missing 10.

Verbruggen led the Shamrocks with three baskets followed by Kobinsky with five points. Koser was held to a solitary free throw. Gracyalny got the only St. John point in the first half but in the second half Matten fired in three baskets and a free throw. Zielinski made free throws and Jaskolski collected a basket to narrow the gap.

Oshkosh Professor Commends Study Club for Its Program

Neenah — Commending the Sarah Doty Study club on its program of continuous study on one phase of literature each year, Nevin S. James, Oshkosh Teachers college professor told club members Wednesday afternoon in the Neenah Public library club rooms that he believed study clubs should be encouraged because reading habits of Americans are wanting.

Professor James, who discussed trends in drama, the subject of this year's study program of the local club, prefaced his remarks with the statement that America ranks twentieth in average books read per year according to a 1930 survey. The speaker pointed out that the survey showed that England, France, Germany, Czechoslovakia and Poland recorded a reading public six to eight times greater than America. Such surveys, he continued, were important because of the high percentage of significant thought material of the world which appears in book form. America takes all the prizes however in its reading habits of magazines and newspapers.

Outlines Backgrounds
Professor James outlined the literary backgrounds of America and England, pointing out that drama was of no importance during the nineteenth century because of the Puritan traditions which tended to restrict any development of drama. The only significant drama in America has appeared since 1915, partially due to the tyranny of the box office, the speaker stated. He outlined the effect of the dramatic critics upon drama and the influence of Ibsen who "brought drama back to life," upon American playwrights. Mr. James discussed briefly George Bernard Shaw, John Galsworthy, Somerset Maugham, Noel Coward, Eugene O'Neill and Maxwell Anderson, contending that American drama was the most promising in the world today.

How To Relieve Bronchitis

Bronchitis, acute or chronic, is an inflammatory condition of the mucous membranes lining the bronchial tubes. Creomulsion goes right to the seat of the trouble to loosen germ laden phlegm, increase secretion and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. Tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding that you are to take it the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Highway Workers Want Employment

Lack of Snow Puts Winnebago County Men on Jobless List

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Sixty Winnebago county highway department employees, wondering why it doesn't snow, gathered at the highway garage this morning and asked the highway committee what it intends to do about it.

The men were laid off Tuesday, according to E. B. Bird, highway commissioner, because all of the county's work has been cleaned up and there is nothing for the men to do until it does snow.

Usually at this time of the year, road work of all kinds is postponed so that every available man can be put on the snow crews. This year, the county has a fleet of trucks, all with plows mounted and ready to plunge into the snow drifts, but there's no snow.

The employees will appoint a committee to meet with the highway committee this week in an effort to solve the work problem.

Out-of-Town Birth Increase Is Shown In Health Report

136 Non-Resident Out of 250 Recorded at New London in Year

New London—The continued increase of non-resident births in New London hospitals during 1939 is the revealing feature of the annual health report issued this week by Dr. F. J. Pfeifer, city health officer. While local births have kept a fairly even keel since 1936, births to out-of-town persons have increased steadily during the last four years, surpassing for the first time in 1939 the number of local births. There were 136 last year compared to 87 in 1936, 108 in 1937 and 114 in 1938. Total number of births in the city reached a peak last year with 250, of which 114 were local. There were 136 local births in 1937 out of a total of 227.

There were 103 deaths in 1939, 65 resident and 38 non-resident. 50 Marriages

Marriages were less than the spurt of 67 in 1938 and returned to the average number of 50. Only 41 homes were placarded because of contagious disease during 1939 while severe cases were quarantined, six cases of scarlet fever and one small pox. Measles led with 25 cases, chicken pox 18, whooping cough 2, mumps 1 and undulant fever 1.

The list of 103 dead is an increase over the 90 of the previous year. As in former years, heart trouble led the causes of death with 25, cancer was second with 14, arteriosclerosis and apoplexy third with 12 and accidents fourth with 7. There were 7 stillbirths and 6 premature births. Seventeen isolated diseases caused the rest of the deaths with pneumonia accounting for 4 cases, tuberculosis 2, diphtheria 1, meningitis 1, infantile paralysis 1, streptococcus infection 1, and diabetes 1.

Work Underway on Small Ice Rinks

City Watchman to Supervise Skating at Washington High School Area

New London—With the opening of the Washington high school ice rink Wednesday evening, construction will be started on a number of small ice rinks for grade school skaters at the various school grounds in the city, according to Albert Gesse, street commissioner. Work was started today on a rink at McKinley school and when completed others will follow at Lincoln school, and probably the Most Precious Blood Catholic school and Emanuel Lutheran school if weather is favorable. Grounds have been graded at each school.

Rental Shelf Abolished at New London Public Library

New London—The rental shelf at the New London Public Library has been abolished this week as the result of recent action by the library board, according to Miss Grace Fleischauer, librarian, and approximately 10 outstanding books which have had limited circulation on a rental basis are now available free to all readers.

Other new books added to the shelves this week include Louis Bromfield's "It Takes All Kinds," a volume of fiction which contains three full length novels and two novelettes, with settings ranging from the American Southwest to the East Indies.

"A Sea Island Lady" by Francis Grissold is the story of the dramatic life of a New England girl who went to the South at the end of the Civil war as the young wife of a carpetbagger. Her love for a young Union Army officer and her remarriage into a southern family, six tumultuous decades of war, reconstruction, revival, and finally the transition to modern times.

"Our Washington" An example of the type of work being done by the Federal Writers' project is the guidebook called "Our Washington." Hundreds of unusual, photographic studies are accompanied by condensed descriptive narrative, compressing pertinent information about the city and its many points of interest into a few easily read chapters.

In his book, "Science for the Citizen," Lancelot Hogben presents to the layman the whole fundamental structure of science and shows the means that are on hand to create a just and rational social order, a civilization in which there is no hunger, no homelessness, no wars, no racial hatred, little disease and insanity, and where the fruits of the earth may be leisurely enjoyed by healthy, decent men and women in beautiful surroundings.

"I Wanted to Be an Actress" is the intimate record of Katherine Cornell's life and career as presented in her autobiography. An adult's story of Daniel Boone, presenting him in a new historical and adventurous light, is John Bakeless' "Daniel Boone," in which the author draws upon much hitherto unpublished material.

Cristy Bowlers Win Major Loop First Half Title

G. A. Wells Hits 253 Game to Help Team Take 3 From Oils

Major League W. L. Cristys 29 16 Greenlaw's Garage 24 21 Meiklejohn's Clothes 23 22 Mobilioils 14 31

New London—G. A. Wells sneaked in the last opportunity to cop individual honors when the Business Men's Major loop wound up the first half season at Prah's alleys last night by walloping a high 604 series record with an smashing game of 253 and others of 178 and 173. He missed a perfect game by only two strikes.

He paced Cristys to the first half title as they won 3 from the Oils. Earl Meiklejohn's 507 and 186 topped the matches as Meiklejohn's Clothes beat Greenlaw's garage two games. Cristys held first half series mark with a 5242 pin total while the Mobilioils were holders of high game at 883.

Girls Club League W. L. Carter-Hansons 28 17 N. L. Construction Co 25 20 Prah's News 19 26 Daves Service 18 27

Carter-Hanson Studio girls walked off with the first half season.

Others will follow at Lincoln school, and probably the Most Precious Blood Catholic school and Emanuel Lutheran school if weather is favorable. Grounds have been graded at each school.

No rink will be constructed in the field provided for it at Hatten park this year as the appropriation in the city budget will not finance such a large project, Gesse reported. The $200 provided is barely sufficient to maintain the school rinks.

A city watchman will supervise skating at the Washington high school rink each evening and skating will be allowed until 10 o'clock after which workmen will recondition the ice each night for the next day's use.

Annenberg's Old Defense Now Puts Him in Embarrassing Spot

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Pegler

New York—Moe Annenberg, the millionaire racketeer, who is soon to go to trial in the federal court in Chicago, or plead guilty, according to his choice, in an embarrassing situation, branded himself by his own pleadings in court in 1934. Mr. Annenberg denies that he is a racketeer, and there has been some informal discussion in Washington and Chicago of the fact that, in the guise of a Republican newspaper publisher in Philadelphia, where he fought the New Deal, he incurred the political displeasure of the Roosevelt administration. Mention is made of this by way of suggesting that he might be a victim of political persecution, but the fact remains that after a long and incredibly prosperous career in the underworld of sport and politics—namely, the illegal horse-racing gambling racket, operating on a national scale—Mr. Annenberg now stands accused of withholding about five million dollars in income taxes.

That figure is the result of an incomplete audit and represents only his personal income. The amount may grow when the tax accountants of the treasury intelligence unit finish their examination of the books of various corporations under his whole or part ownership or control. There are other indictments, and the investigation and prosecution invades the field of the criminal alliance between politicians, including cheap and vicious slysters who defile the bench in Chicago and the legislature in Springfield, and gangsters of the foulest type.

This alliance between politics or government and crime maintains winter quarters in Miami and Miami Beach and conducts similar operations there during the winter season, but without suspending activities in Chicago or other northern cities. That is one reason why many prominent state and municipal officers of Illinois and New Jersey spend so much of their time in the Miami in winter. J. Edgar Hoover of the F.B.I. referred to it recently when he spoke of a migration of criminal scum to the Miami. It is a regular migration which occurs every year.

Mr. Annenberg admitted that he was in illegal business in a motion picture which his attorneys filed in the circuit court of Cook County, Ill., of which Chicago is the most part, on Dec. 14, 1934. In that case he and others in the same racket had been sued by John J. Lynch, their partner, for an accounting and division of the profits of the General News bureau, which furnished race results and other information to gambling rooms.

Reply to Suit Held That Business Was Illegal
In his reply, made by the noted Chicago law firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green and Martin, Mr. Annenberg said:
"It appears on the face of the bill of complaint that the subject matter of the lawsuit is a division of the profits made by supplying gamblers and handbook operators with certain essentials which are necessary in the conduct of said gambling or handbook business. Equity will not take jurisdiction or order an accounting between participants in an illegal business, nor will equity aid and abet anyone engaged in an illegal business to obtain from others his fair share of the profits resulting from said business."

This defense was signed with the law firm's name and sworn to by Robert N. Goldberg as a member of the firm. A similar but slightly more rugged statement of the same contention was offered by Albert Fink as counsel for a number of other defendants in the same action. He called the profits "loot."
"From the facts alleged," Mr. Fink wrote, "it appears that the subject matter of the suit is the division of loot alleged to have been procured by supplying instrumentalities indispensable to the operation of poolrooms and handbooks. A court of equity will not entertain an application for accounting between co-adventurers in an alleged criminal enterprise nor aid a participant therein to recover his alleged share of the loot."

The suit was settled out of court.

Then He Agreed to Suspend Operations
This defense came back to plague Mr. Annenberg last November, when William J. Campbell, the federal district attorney, and Thomas J. Courtney, the Cook county prosecutor, asked for an injunction to forbid the telephone and telegraph companies to provide wire facilities for the operation of Mr. Annenberg's underworld racket. Denial of the wires would be a terrible blow to the racket, and Mr. Annenberg asked relief in the federal court.

Mr. Campbell was ready for him. He was ready to cite against him Moe's own contention that an il-

BOOKED AT APPLETON THEATER

Sonja Henie has amazed moviegoers often in the past with her sensational artistry on the ice, but now the blonde champion puts a new surprise out of the hat and emerges in her latest film, "Everything Happens at Night," as a full-fledged, expert dramatic actress. Boasting a timely and danger-spiced story filled as well with gay and romantic touches, this new film presents Sonja with two leading men, Ray Milland and Robert Cummings, and the result of their collaboration is a screen treat indeed. "Everything Happens at Night" will open at the Appleton Theatre Saturday for four days. Included in the cast are Maurice Moscovitch, Leonid Kinskey, Alan Dinehart and Fritz Feld.

Reckless adventure in the rich far country of the Canadian north-woods is offered in "Man From Montreal," starring Andy Devine and Richard Arlen as the second feature on this program.

Report on Surplus Foodstuffs Issued State During Year

Washington — (AP)—Wisconsin received 39,967,853 pounds of foodstuffs from the federal surplus commodities corporation for distribution to persons on relief during the last fiscal year.

The report of the FSCC for the year ended last June 30 disclosed its donations of surplus foodstuffs for relief purposes in all states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands amounted to 1,970,079,155 pounds purchased at a cost of about $66,500,000 to relieve depressed agricultural markets.

In states near Wisconsin these amounts were distributed: Iowa 23,735,121 pounds; Illinois 166,689,791 pounds; Michigan 95,724,519 pounds; Minnesota 57,333,539 pounds.

The purchases included 38 commodities, and were given to approximately 3,000,000 families, or nearly 11,000,000 people, a month. Butter accounted for 52 per cent of the expenditure, fluid milk 5 per cent, and miscellaneous truck crops and eggs about 1 per cent each.
